

WE NOMINATE

Arthur Stephen Lane, attorney, former jurist and a dedicated civic leader in the Princeton-Trenton Area for the past three decades, who in the week ahead will be one of the three men honored by the Mercer County Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews for "the betterment of cultural, educational and human relations above and beyond their professional responsibilities." As one interested citizen reported to TOWN TOPICS, "few seem to realize how much Judge Lane in his quiet way has contributed to the development of local institutions and such organizations as the George Washington Council, Boy Scouts of America, and the New Jersey Council of Juvenile Judges."

The 58-year-old Lane, now General Counsel for Johnson & Johnson and periodically boomed as a strong Republican candidate for high elective office, has been active in and around Princeton ever since his graduation from Harvard Law School in 1937. Legal secretary to Vice Chancellor Malcolm G. Buchanan of The Court of Chancery until admitted to the New Jersey Bar in 1936, he served for nine years as Mercer County Prosecutor before being appointed Judge of the Mercer County Court in 1956. He was reappointed to the County bench in 1960, the same year he was named Judge of the U.S. District Court.

In the summer of 1967, some seven years after he had been elevated to the Federal Judiciary by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Lane, a native of Arlington, Mass., resigned his judgeship to face what he termed "the interesting and challenging problems offered by a company engaged in world-wide operations." Moreover, Lane, deeply interested in education and over the years involved in the affairs of several privately sustained institutions, noted that "this new situation will afford Mrs. Lane (the former Sally Kerney Kuser) the means of giving our seven children (three sons (four daughters) the same educational opportunities we have enjoyed."

Remembered by many up and down Nassau Street as captain of one of Princeton University's great football teams (the unbeaten 1933 squad which opened Columbia's Rose Bowl Champions), Lane in 1958 was singled out for Sports Illustrated's Silver Anniversary All-America, 25 football players recognized as "men of achievement" a quarter-century after graduation. It was the publication's thesis that these men "are exemplars of the American tradition which holds that men and nations are made and preserved by both faith and works, by character and energy."

In addition to serving as President of the N. J. Council of Juvenile Court Judges and completing two terms as this area's top-ranking Boy Scout executive, Lane has been associated with the Advisory Council of Judges of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and the Special Committee on Continuing Education of the U.S. Judicial Conference. A former trustee of the Princeton Day School, this veteran of a five-year tour of duty in World War II, when he rose to the rank of commander in the Western Pacific, is a former alumni trustee of Princeton, a director of the Children's Home Society and a member of the executive committee of Exeter's Alumni Association.

For believing that the truly concerned citizen must be involved in public service; for his soft-voiced but singularly effective leadership in a hall-dozen areas of volunteer activity; for his understanding support of programs which face up to the pressing issues of the day; he is our nominee as

This Is Princeton

A LOOK AT THE TOWN
Through The Hourglass.
Princeton is not the quiet, peaceful bedroom community you may think. More accurately, it is a microcosm of Philadelphia and New York.
Princeton finds itself with the same problems: drugs, gambling, black-white relations, some sub-standard housing, and so on.

William Kuhl, the sociological worker who is now a senior at Princeton Theological Seminary and a youth worker for Trinity Church, has these comments about Princeton.

Consulting his pocket notebook, he comes up with this:
"Princeton isn't shaped in the classic diamond shape that has characterized American society—where the bulk of the jobs are located in the middle and there are relatively few completely on the bottom or completely at the top.

"In Princeton, you have what is almost an hourglass:
quite a number of people at the top, and relatively many people at the bottom—but few in the middle. The percentage in the middle is 13.8% of the population—these are the people making between $1,000 and $10,000 a year, which is the national median. This makes for a very peculiar community."

From 500 to Millions. The income range, he notes, goes from almost zero to millions.
"But if you look at the figures prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in the Department of Commerce (December 1968) and taken from W-2 forms, you will see that the after-tax average income of white families in Princeton is $15,902—and of black families
$3,330. Which is to say you have a 4 to 1 split."

Turning a page in his notebook, Mr. Kuhl goes on:
"Further, we find that peculiarly enough, 30% of the people are earning less than $3,000 a year. This is less than the Federally-defined poverty level."

"The statistics are distorted somewhat by the number of however many graduate students with low incomes list Princeton as a permanent address."

"Taking the two aggregates, anyway, we find that the split means that the average black man sees himself as earning one-quarter of what the average white man makes. And that defines not only the economic split, but also the social split."

BYRN MAWE BOOK SALE: Mrs. Geoffrey Nunes (left), Mrs. Joseph Wilder (center) and Mrs. Ernest Lyndon are busy sorting books for the Bryn Mawr Book Sale this week at Borough Hall Gymnasium. Also on sale will be ten bits, totaling $22, issued by the Confederate State of America.
They were found enclosed in a book.

Read, cross Bayard Lane, go-tries of the Southern middle on down Avalon Place, past and upper middle classes, the the YM-YWCA and make a left onto John Street and you'll see how sharply the distinctions can be drawn in this community. The YMCA sits there as the buffer between the two almost opposite groups: the highly affluent white and the relatively poor black. The Y doesn't, however, function in the community as the buffer between the two.

"Elsewhere in town, you would see the distinction to a smaller degree: the extreme illustrates in one sense the perceptual distance between the way the blacks see the whites, and the whites see the blacks."

Tight Housing a Factor.
Princeton has a significantly sized black community for a town of this size, he goes on.
It has a flow of people out of the community because of living costs and the lack of low income housing.

"This same tight market for housing has jacked up the costs, and, with higher taxes and higher costs of living, it is not unusual to find a black man paying $86 a week living in a three-bedroom house in the John Witherspoon area paying $100 a month rent... thus eating up most of his income. This is far disproportionate for housing."

The hourglass economic structure causes an interesting educational system as far as the aspirations of the two major groups are concerned, he continues. "You have a community whose education is predominantly designed to wards putting people into college. Vocational education lags — primarily because the people who make the policy don't see much demand for it, and because in their minds vocational education is inferior education — rather than merely different education."

"Princeton has no industry, the great bulder of the lower middle and middle classes. It has research industry which requires college graduates.
The educational level of Princeton has a phenomenal number of college graduates—and this tends to continue the distance between the groups ings."

A Lack of Self-Perception.
"So Princeton is a rather a special community, cosmopolitan in its problems, very porchoial and almost pre-revolutionary War in its self-perception... with its highly educated people making a powerful effect upon their children (many of whom go to private schools) and also upon the lives of children who are not from highly educated families."

"We also have in Princeton a high number of white people who have migrated from the South... southerners who are highly trained, highly educated, fairly high-income people. They carry with them some of the attitude structure of the South. Not the straight racism of the red-neck, but more likely the subtle bigolargely, extremely sensitive white kids. They will make up the upper 10% of their graduating class. In fact, the study of one private school, attended by several Princeton youngsters, recently indicated that 30% of the students on the list used marijuana. It seems that Princeton has the same problem.

"So we find the top echelon of Princeton youth is being eaten away by drugs," said Princeton Hospital has had, on the average, one or two teenage students a week since the start of the year. They take drugs mostly through the meanness, the injustice around them; they see the futility of the war in Vietnam, country policies going down the drain; they have read the essays that indicate the warlike nature of American society; they have a lack of confidence and a lack of hope leading to despair and alienation.

"They are also valueless. They have not been taught a set of values even to reject them. They have been left to go on their own to seek and not always to find — a set of values."

"This leads to what the sociologists call 'a state of anomie' or normlessness. And normlessness in the state in which the institutions and the value structures cannot get close enough together to coincide, to mesh. It is like an automobile when the clutch goes."

Youth Center Evaluated. Now, we have here in town a Youth Center. The Center was created by a group of predominantly white people meeting under the tutelage of the Rev. G. Rogers Carrington, the former director of Youth Associates, who had envisioned a center for the youth of Princeton — a place where they could relax, talk, have recreation and really be a part of it.

"The Center was located on Witherspoon Street, within the John Witherspoon area, and predictably the Center became heavily dominated by the black community's teenagers because it was closer to them and, more important, it seemed to me, because they needed it more than the white kids. They had no alternatives and for many of the white kids there were alternatives."

"More and more of these kids, who felt no identity, began to come into the Youth Center last summer and sit down and talk to Wilbur Williamson, the director at that time . . . he could handle the kids and they grew. Many became more mature, politically wise."

"Some got so they didn't need the Center any more. They would check to some times because they were welcome. Sometimes there is no where else in the community where they are welcome. A group of black kids would come up to the Calvary at Trinity Church and feel they were welcome."

Youth Center Beneficial. As youth workers, we saw these kids growing in the mercurial, black and forth process that all of us grew. Some of the kids found themselves with a great identity. In spite of what you may have read in the newspapers, the number of kids committed by Princeton Negro youths has gone down considerably since the Youth Center got Wilbur Williamson as youth director.

"In Princeton, we have represented all but the radical extremes of black thinking. We have kids who are affiliated with Black Muslims, with Black Nationalists organizations, some who would like to affiliate with the Black Panthers if they could do so. But most of them are interested in a position somewhere more radical than the NAACP."

"Princeton white kids are always talked to in terms of the future. The blacked (not all of them) see themselves as having no future," Mr. Knight

"PRINCETON FEELS IT CAN NOT BE HELD INTO THE CHANGING THAT HAVE OCCURRED IN THE UNITED STATES," according to William Knight, sociologist turned seminary student, who has worked with Princeton youth for the past four years.

comments. "They are not sure of the past (where their race is concerned); the present is often quite shaky and the future is unthinkably. (This applies to the Appalachians and other poor whites, too). The black can't dream. A dream involves seeing himself as having something."

"The Youth Center became a viable outlet, very productive kind of thing for these kids. But youth work has to be confidential, it has to be directed toward a particular problem, it has to be situational and it involves a large element of trust. In the part of the board of the organization sponsoring the youth worker, and on the part of the kid he works with."

"If the institution destroys that relationship," Mr. Knight declares, "then much damage can result. Members of the boards of these organizations tend to be more like patrons than members. That is, if the organization isn't doing what they think it ought to do, they want to withdraw their subscription."

"Most of the black kids saw the Youth Center, for instance, as a place where they belong. Far from them, the loss of the Williamson means the Youth Center is no longer there."

"The Youth worker in Princeton, the worker in the streets, at the Center and the Catholicism, averages a 70-hour week. He keeps in contact with not more than 15 to 20 kids if he is going to do anything in depth. There are only three of us left now, Jerry Sanders of the YMCA, John Provanzano of Youth Associates and myself."

"Of the kids — there are about 100 plus from the Youth Center and another 60 to 100 youngsters, on heroin; between 300 and 400 on other forms of narcotics at one time or another, plus the kids who drink or the kids who have some other kind of problem and even normal kids who have some normal problem they want to talk about with somebody they trust."

New Drug in Use. "Youth workers make mistakes and there is nobody to defend them. They need the strong support of their institution."

"For instance, just ten days ago a new drug appeared in Princeton. It is called Dyl. A lysuric related drug that takes the kids on a four- or five-day trip."

"It is radically different from all the other drugs with which we have been dealing. We may make some mistakes in feeling out how to deal with this new problem. And a board cannot make the youth worker so insecure that he can't dare try."

"Youth workers are paid in most cases by agencies that get their funds voluntarily from people who feel that it is important work. They need the security of knowing that they will be paid. They need a discretionary fund so that they can pay for unexpected needs. I myself spent $800 on clothing for the kids last winter. Wilbur spent big money, so did other youth workers. It isn't important who spent the money, but the needs would not have been known if it had not been for the Youth Center and Wilbur Williamson."

The man working out in the streets must be able to relate to a youngster in an institution, and if that institution suddenly changes the values—either actually or as they are perceived, then the work that he has done is dysfunctional. Because if you create a hope in a youth that something will work out that doesn't work out you have not helped him. His retreat is going to involve him in worse trouble than he fore."

"Therefore, one can predict, that in Princeton we will see, when summer comes, an increase in crime again and a reversal to type of the kids who have been worked on through the Youth Center. Because they have been, from their point of view, betrayed."

An Answer Needed. "For the rest of us to go out on the streets and work becomes rather questionable. Our institutions have to ask the question, 'How much are we going to let go committed?'"

"And only the Princeton community can answer. It has to decide do we want youth workers, do we want to get these problems solved or do we want to let them just fester?"

"If we want youth workers, we are going to have to create a structure that is designed to be supportive of youth workers, not supportive of itself, one which will stand and be willing to be counted and go out on the limb with these kids, black and white, so that they can be related to, assisted and helped to understand themselves and to understand what is going on."

"If this is not done, for any Princeton is to involve himself in ethical and moral contraction. We have to face that reality. And the reality is here, right now."

TOPICS Of The Town

MRS. PACKARD TO GO
Resignation Affirmed. The resignation of Mrs. Alice Packard as principal of Riverside School will remain in effect.

The Board of Education announced Tuesday night that it met with Mrs. Packard on April 17, and had decided after that interview that the resignation would stand. Mrs. Packard had asked the board to reconsider.

A letter from three pairs of Riverside School parents protested the "inhumane manner" in which the board had handled Mrs. Packard's case, charging a breakdown in communications between Superintendent Philip E. McPherson on the one hand, and the school's teachers and principal on the other.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mager, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reiche and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Challenor.

Dr. Constance Vieland, controversial director of the controversial Wednesday Program, was granted tenure by the board, Winthrop Pike abstained. "It is improper to single out names in a public meeting," he explained. "A no vote would be unjust to the rest of the teachers in the group."

Mr. Pike has not been in favor of granting tenure to Dr. Vieland. Replying to an audience question about the wisdom of voting on teachers in the mass rather than individually, Board President John Marks explained that the board had discussed each teacher carefully in executive session.

When another resident expressed concern about 28 teacher resignations, Russell Stanley, who is recruiter for the school system, said the number of resignations was down this year from last.

Private Matters. Communication among board, teachers and parents was the object of a formal policy statement which touched nerves throughout the audience.

Personnel questions that have "been the subject of unfortunate public discussion and debate" are a matter of "serious regret to the board and have been detrimental to the school system," the statement began.

The board will not discuss in public the details of any decisions on appointment, resignation, salaries or any other confidential personal matters affecting employees.

Anyone who thinks these matters are in the public record, and therefore open to the public, learned differently from legal advice given the board by its counsel, Thomas Cook.

Will It Work? "I doubt that this policy is enforceable," said Donald Riddle, from the audience. "It's had public policy in the first place and beyond that, the public has the right to tell the board its opinion on the board's evaluation of any employees, and the right to discuss these things with the board."

Although there was some disagreement between Mr. Cook and board member Harvey Rothberg on the meaning of the public policy statement, they finally agreed that the statement's intent was not to cut off communication altogether, but simply to forbid public discussion of private matters.

This Land is Mine. The board hastily tabled a motion asking the Township Planning Board to indicate on the Master Plan map a possible school site on the east side of Snowden Lane, where Terhune will cross when it is extended, and Herrontown Road.

Mrs. T. Burnes Fisher informed the board with some coldness that she and her sister owned the land, and that this was the first she had heard that it might be painted in on the Master Plan map.

She added that she and her sister had been approached informally, but had rejected the board's overture in regard to the property.

"I don't like your approach," she said, "it smacked of a singular lack of courtesy."

Another member of the audience suggested the board employ "black lines" in not keeping Mrs. Fisher informed. "This is the kind of thing that has helped generate the feelings around town about the board," she added.

At P.H.S. Kenneth Michael, high school principal, reported on formation of C.A.S.A.—the "Committee for Action on Student Affairs"—composed of faculty and students and referred to by an editorial writer in the PHS newspaper as "the greatest step forward this school has ever taken." C.A.S.A. is now forming a subcommittee to include citizens, Mr. Michael said.

He outlined several new things the school is doing to solve some of its problems: tighter attendance checks throughout the day; formation of a supervised student lounge; increased supervision of two critical areas—the cafeteria and the auditorium porch—and increased attention to the needs of about a dozen students "who cause daily problems."

Black Study Asked. The board passed, with one dissenting vote, a resolution offered by C. S. Byrd, Rockledge Dr. McPherson to evaluate elementary-type black child

Snow Day Set

The extra snow day that Princeton's public schools must make up to meet the state's requirement of 180 school days will be Monday, June 16.

"We've considered all the alternatives including Saturday classes," said John Wolfkell, associate superintendent when he made the announcement. Tuesday night, "and whatever arguments you bring up, I can argue right back."

Report cards will be given out that day. Parents who had planned to leave town before June 16 should confer with the principal of their child's school, Mr. Wolfkell advised.

Next year's calendar will have only two snow days.

ren by academic performance, social and cultural development and personality growth.

"We have only impressions in this area, and very little hard data," the Rev. Mr. Rooks said. "The findings would help us with other minority groups in the schools, like youngsters in the academic minority."

Board member William Z. Abrams said he couldn't see precisely what would be measured. He also questioned the value of the study and whether the system was geared to make it, and so he voted 'no.'

Dr. McPherson said the study, with an August deadline, would mean "terrible pressures" for his staff, but he promised to try, and told the board he might seek aid from Educational Testing Service.

Following Mr. Cook's recommendations, the board voted support of a bill now before the State Assembly (A633) increasing state aid to school districts. Mr. Pike estimated its value to Princeton at $30,000. The board also voted to support a bill eliminating the second election if a budget goes down the first time. Mr. Pike estimated a saving of $2,000 if the requirement for a second election is wiped out.

The board decided to oppose a bill now before the state Senate allowing public schools to lend their textbooks to private schools.

"WEDNESDAYS"

On Tuesday Night, it was 10 p.m. before the school board got around to its report on the Wednesday Program at Tuesday night's board meeting, but there was still some steam left in the audience at Community Park School.

Board member C. Shelby Rooks outlined evaluation procedures for the program. The board lined up an outside team consisting of James Cass, education editor for the Saturday Review of Literature, William Boatwell, executive editor of Scholastic Magazine, and someone "with a teaching background" who hasn't been picked yet.

A questionnaire asking Wednesday participants what they think they've gained and given, and a record of actual work activities will be added to the score sheet.

At the open meeting of the board in June, people who haven't participated in the program at all, will be invited to tell the board how the program has affected students, parents and the home.

Opinion Counts. "What the outside team says is the only 'evaluation' the rest is merely collecting opinion," said Donald Riddle, in the audience.

Board member Mrs. George Fremon retorted that in her view, the opinions of participants are indeed important.

Then several members of the audience tossed the ball back and forth: Can opinions be measured? Can intangibles be measured? If one of the goals is to encourage responsible dialogue between school and community how can you know when you've achieved that goal?

A persistent questioner tried to find out how many children had joined the program. Raymond Hunt, who teaches French in the Middle School, finally told her that the point of the program was to help teachers reach toward self-improvement, not to find things for kids to do on Wednesday afternoons.

"Students do benefit," said one of them, from Princeton High. "We benefit if the changed attitudes of our teachers, and that change is something to be desired!"

Superintendent Philip E. McPherson, asked by board member Harvey Holzman, whether he thought Wednesdays had

Outdoor Living

Plant a lot
Of little seeds
And soon you'll get
A crop of weeds.

The April showers we've had (rainfall for the month was about a half-inch above normal) should now bring the proverbial May flowers, with the weeds hopefully taking a back seat.

May, usually one of the most delightful months of the year in Princeton, is expected to start with near-perfect weather. Generally fair skies, temperatures reaching into the 70s, are forecast through the week-end.

brought the schools closer to curriculum improvement, declined to answer. "I don't want to pre-judge," Dr. McPherson explained, "before the reports are in."

One member of the audience asked the board to call on various educational research organizations in Princeton to assist with evaluation.

Mr. Marks asked everyone to write opinions about the Wednesday Program to the board by the June meeting.

THEY'RE OFF

And Running. Slates were filled by both parties in Princeton this week for Mayor of the Borough, Councilmen for the Borough and Township Committee-men.

Robert W. Cawley, 10 Westcott Road, will be the Republican candidate for mayor, running against Democratic Councilman Alice Male, 76 Cedar Lane, whose candidacy was announced last week. Republican Mayor Henry S. Patterson stated last month that he would not seek a fifth term.

For Council, the Republicans will run Mrs. Christine St. John, 283 Prospect Avenue, who was elected Borough tax collector in 1967. Also on the Republican's Council ticket will be Charles Cornforth, 71 Westcott Road, who is seeking his second term as Councilman.

The Democratic candidates for Council, announced last week, are incumbent Robert M. Hendry, 15 Chestnut Street, who is running for a second term, and Martin F. Lombardo, 329 Nassau. Mr. Cawley, his never held public office before. In the Township, the Democrats will run Richard Bergman, 106 Balcott Drive, and Mrs. Golda Goldlieb, 83 Rand Road.

Township Republicans have already announced that John D. Wallace will run for a second term with Dean Chace, 67 Leabrook Lane, as his running-mate.

Biography. Mr. Cawley, a 1944 graduate of Lehigh, with a degree in engineering, is assistant director of research administration for Western Electric in Hopewell.

He is budget chairman of the Princeton United Fund; first vice-president of the Princeton chapter of the American Red Cross and chairman of a committee on long-range planning for Red Cross blood programs in northern New Jersey.

He and his wife have four children — George, a sophomore at Princeton High School; a sixth grader in the Middle School; Allison, a freshman at Kirkland College and John, a sophomore at the University of California.

Mr. Male was graduated in 1956 from Russell Sage College with a major in mathematics and a minor in political science. For two years, she was head of the statistical department for the Gallup organization.

She was first president of the Princeton Youth Center Adult Board and is still serving as a board member. She was a founding member of the Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Scholarship Fund.

Mrs. Male's husband, Raymond Male, is a former mayor of the Borough. The Males have four children — Susan, a senior at Earlham College; Laura, a junior at the University of Denver; Sarah, a junior at Princeton High School and David, a seventh-grader at the Columbus Boychoir School.

Both Mr. Cornforth and Mr. Hendry are regarded as Council's financial experts. Mr. Cornforth is in industrial relations with Public Service, and Mr. Hendry heads one of the accounting divisions at RCA.

Mr. Bergman, an engineer, is vice-president and a director of Systemedics, Inc., a medical-data processing firm with offices at 20 Nassau. Mrs. Goldlieb is a member of the executive committee of the Mercer-Middlesex — Somerset Regional Study Council and served as specialist in regional planning for the state board of the League of Women Voters.

News Of The THEATRES

P. J. & B. VETERANS
Lyon, Farrell, Milton Lyon has directed eight of the nine P. J. & B. productions that have been given since the spring of 1961, and Greg Farrell has been in four of the nine.

Greg will star this year as Professor Harold Hill in Meredith Willson's "The Music Man," which will be given in McCart Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 8, 9 and 10 with a 2:30 Saturday matinee in addition to the three evening performances.

Mr. Lyon's first P. J. & B. production was "Guys and Dolls," and it was Mr. Farrell's first production, too — he played Sky Masterson. Since that time, he has been in "Show Boat" as Frank and in "South Pacific" as Luther Billis.

In the years since 1961, Mr.
Lyon has directed for P. J. &
B. "Anything Goes," "Gypsy,"
"Show Boat," "The King and I," "Finian's Rainbow" and "South Pacific." His only last year was 1965, when Jay Har-nack, directed "Wonderful Town."

"FLUDEE" DELIGHTS
At Trinity, A world of wonder, innocence and faith, in which God commands and man obeys—even if woman doesn't, right away—and a rainbow binds it all to a golden vision of future goodness. . . . That is the world of "Noye's Fludde," Benjamin Britten's adaptation of an old English miracle play, presented three times last weekend in Trinity Church.

The Trinity production enlisted the professional help of Arthur Lithgow, executive director of McCarter Theatre, as dramatic director; James Litton, organist and choirmaster of Trinity as musical director; John Schenck, technical director at McCarter as scenery and set designer; Joan Lucas of the Princeton Ballet Society as choreographer, and singers from the Westminster Choir College and environs, as members of the cast.

It was a fine and professional presentation with just enough of the amateur's rough touch to make it all seem real. Brit-ten's score is precisely righting enough to be worth all the time and effort lavished upon it by Trinity, short enough to keep everyone from becoming restless, informal enough to involve the audience itself in a prim kind of participatory democracy — the singing of fine old hymns from the Episcopal canon.

We began the evening, in fact, with rehearsal. Mr. Litton appeared before the Trinity audience, rolled up his sleeves, and announced that everyone would have to practice before the "curtain."

The score, printed in the program, provided notes and words for "Lord Jesus, think on me, and purge away my sin; From earth-born passions set me free, and make me pure within . . ."

Then, during the storm, the audience was primed and rehearsed to sing "Eternal Father, strong to save, whose arm deths bind, the restless wave . . . O hear us when we cry to thee for those in peril on the sea . . ."

And at the end, the congregation joined the cast in singing "the hand that made us is Divine."

It is true — they did indeed build the ark right there, more or less before the altar. And the animals, swarms of them, strongly resembling fifth and sixth-grade types seen in the Princeton community (and even some first-graders) did indeed stream down the aisle happily chanting Benjamin Britten's "Kyrie Eleison!"
There were, clearly, giraffes and bunny rabbits and bird species, and many other genera not immediately identifiable.

The two most charming were a Raven, played, when we saw the production, by Christine Woodside, although Elizabeth Scarborough is said to have given a splendid matinee performance, and a Dove, played with exquisite tenderness by Elizabeth Matthews, in the evening, and by Suzanne Mac-Namee on Saturday afternoon.

Steven Kimbrough's Noye was a masterpiece of high resolve. An opera singer of considerable experience, Mr. Kim-brough carried the role with rich voice and a fine and dignified presence.

Diane Curry as Mrs. Noye, however, was the dull star of the show. Shrewish, a bit inclined to the role of ale, disdainful of both God's and Noye's warning, she made a nicely crestfallen transition to the true believer, as she nervously watched the rain begin to fall. Lee Bristol's Voice of God thundered through the electronic heavens in a way to terrify even Mrs. Noye.

The only disappointments were the three sons, Ham, Sam and Jaffet, who were cast from the treble voices in the Men and Boys' Choir of Trinity Church. However seraphic these young, unchanged voices may sound as they sing an audience, are they simply not equal to the theatrical demands of an opera program.

None of the three could project his voice out and beyond into the congregation and the general effect was one of stifled, almost smothered, vocal power. Microphones around the neck of each boy would have helped immeasurably.

Britten's score was carried splendidly by a large orchestra, including slung mugs, recorders (descants 1 and 11 and treble), handbells sounded by musicians from Westminster Choir College, and innumerable strings. Percussive effects were too loud sometimes.

"Noye's Fludde" was acted before the congregation at the church's "crossing." The animals were grouped as a choir in the choir. Mrs. Noye, mug and all, held forth from the pulpit, the orchestra was in the Lady Chapel and the splendid rainbow glowed against the main arch of the church.

The only question is — where can Trinity go from here? Will another Noye's Fludde, by popular demand, create a kind of ecclesiastical P. J. & B. with a new miracle play each spring? We can only hope.

 Intime Has Tolen, the mod who has the flawlessly successful knock with women, and Colin who wishes desperately he had it, too — these are the two that combine for "The Knack." Ann Jellicoe's comedy that will open this Thursday at Murray Theatre, presented by Theatre Intime.

Curtain is 8:30 Thursday, Friday and Saturday. "The Knack" will play again the same days and times next weekend.

John Vennema will play the super-charm boy, a nice change from his Sarbuck in "Moby Dick—Released." His rival in seduction will be Richard Williams, technical director for Theatre Intime, who is making his on stage debut in this role.

The naive Nancy, who is the object d'art, will be Deborah Savard, recently seen as the young girl in "The Lesson," and as Douka in "Arms and the Man" and Hannah Jakes in "Night of the Iguana" last summer.

Daniel Berkowitz, Intime's executive producer, will play Tom, who acts as a catalyst for the action. Mr. Berkowitz directed "An Irish Fustus" earlier this spring, and has played in "The Misanthrope," "Cat and the Canary" and various other Intime productions.

Geoff Peterson, who was production director for Summer Intime, will direct.

The two singers, who write all their own songs, accompany themselves on guitar, mandolin, fiddle, organ, sitar, pan pipe and electric guitar.

Their first album, "The 5,000 Spirits, or The Layers of the Onion," — more compared by critics to the Beatles' "Sergeant Pepper" — as an innovative milestone on the English pop scene.

SHAKESPEARE, RARE

Gift to University. A "magnificent collection" consisting of 11 Shakespearean quartos which have been collectors' items for over 200 years, has been presented to the Princeton University library by two New York businessmen.

It is William S. Dix, Princeton's librarian, who refers to the collection as "magnificent." He points to three first editions — "Love's Labor's Lost" from 1598, "Julius Caesar" from 1624 and "The Two Noble Kinsmen," 1634.

In addition, there are rare editions of "King Lear," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Pericles," "Henry V," "Sir John Oldcastle," "Othello" and two quartos of "Hamlet." The volumes are the gift of Daniel Maggin, chairman of the board and a director of Diebold, Inc., and his son Donald Maggin, who is an executive with Canabam, the Canadian mutual fund. The younger Mr. Maggin was graduated from Princeton in 1948.

"Love's Labor's Lost" is the rarest of the group, according to Gerald Eades Bentley, professor of English at Princeton. It was the first play to be printed with Shakespeare's name on the title page; other editions have been anonymous.

This quarto marks the first time, so far as we know now, when London publishers decided that Shakespeare's name might sell books," Dr. Bentley has written in the spring issue of the Library Chronicle.

Five of the quartos belong together, constituting half of the group of 10 plays issued in 1619 by Thomas Pavier and Isaac Jaggard in an unauthorized first collection of Shakespeare's works. (The First Folio, sponsored by John Heminges and Henry Condell, was published four years later, in 1623.)

For copyright reasons, these plays have fraudulent dates, but Dr. Bentley says they were all printed in 1619 on the Jaggard presses. The five are "King Lear," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Henry VI," "Sir John Oldcastle" and "Pericles."

The collection includes an undated fourth edition of "Hamlet" — probably printed

THUMBS DOWN ON CAMPUS DISORDERS: Both Charles Johnson (left) and Russell Snyder have little sympathy for the campus demonstrations that have taken place at Princeton and elsewhere. "If I said what they said last week, I'd be in jail," Mr. Snyder commented.

Question Of The Week

Question: What is your reaction to campus demonstrations here in Princeton and elsewhere?

Where asked: Palmer Square

Russell Snyder, Hopewell sales clerk at Farr Hardware: I don't care for them, especially for the type of language they were using here last week. All the campus police they're supposed to have—I don't know how they let them get away with it. I know if I had gotten a loud speaker and said the things they said I'd be in jail right now. I have no sympathy for them whatsoever.

Chuck Johnson, Princeton hardware sales clerk: I think these displays are ridiculous. I have no pity for them at all. They're going too far. I think Mr. Daley in Chicago had the right idea: pound them in the head.

Mark Leone, Lawrenceville, instructor at Princeton University: I think they're wonderful. Why? First of all, I think they are a signal that the rules or social structure that we use to govern campus life are outdated. Secondly, I think if you look at what they are asking, it is an outline for a new series of rules and a mode of campus life as I thought to be.

Mrs. Renate Forcione, 39 Maple Street, housewife: I think they ought to put them to work. First, I think they should learn what discipline is. If they can learn to understand that and they are still not happy afterwards, then they can make their revolutions.

Robert Twiss, Lawrence

Apartments, graduate student, geologist: I think the students in a lot of places have brought up worthwhile issues that need resolving. But in a lot of cases they've taken it too far. They are demanding things that are too ridiculous to be considered. It's like having to demand things to keep the demand going, rather than doing anything constructive.

Dincer Ozgur, 338 Nassau Street, graduate student, engineer: I think the protesters have pointed out problems that the public otherwise should have noticed, but I just can't agree with the violence. It's hard to agree with the use of guns.

Mrs. Jerome Gumbiner, 536 Prospect Avenue, housewife: I agree with the idea but not the method. They're going too far. No one is infallible; administrations can be wrong, student bodies can be wrong. No one has the perfect solution. No one has the right to demand. You do it my way or else. I think some school administrations have reacted ridiculously. For example, Cornell giving in before guns. It's time they learned to compromise with one another.

Gray Ellrodt, Holder Hall, Princeton University student: Here at Princeton as far as the demonstrations by the SDS, I happen to disagree with many of their points. Therefore, I selectively support some of the issues, but I don't think the actions of the administration here have warranted the actions by SDS. I think the administration is making some sense in a valiant effort, and I am willing to give them some time. Taking Columbia and the situation of last spring, I think the demonstrations there were warranted. In that, Kirk put himself above the students and the faculty. I think he failed in his responsibility to them, and the students were forced to take action. It's unfortunate it ballooned up like it did. At Cornell, I think the use of arms is going too far. I find that a frightening thing. To sum up, it depends on the campus: How has the administration treated faculty and students? Have channels been opened up?

Willie Ballock, Leigh Avenue, employee of the University Store: I think in some cases the demonstrations have been good, they were reacting to legitimate complaints. I don't agree with some methods. I think they've gone too far on some campuses, not in Princeton but certainly in New York.

Frank Telese, 363 Ewing Street, newspaper delivery service: I could go on and on about this but in two words—it's shameful. I think if it reaches the point where it spreads to all 50 states, the government will have to step in and federalize the schools. That's the only way you can stop it; federalize the schools and call in the National Guard.

Mrs. Helene Peterson, 2 Nassau Street, housewife: They disgust me, really. I just hope when my son grows up and goes to college he won't get involved in something like this. I don't know what SDS hopes to accomplish by disrupting the student body and the normal course of university life. They'll end up destroying the educational system. I think student politics should be allowed to go only so far. I think it is awful when a minority group can disrupt the entire student body to the degree where it can't get any work done. It's bad enough for the students here on campus now—the lack of girls, Princeton is a small town, and so on. I am glad to see they haven't gone as far as they have at Columbia or—many other admirable qualities in this film version of the play, but what Miss Smith does should finally establish the English actress with American audiences.

It is an "actor's picture" in the sense that it is filled with superb character portrayals. Celia Johnson is the conservative headmistress of the girls' school and enemy of all the individualistic heroine stands for. Robert Stephens is the married painter-teacher who is obsessed with Miss Brodie and wants to continue the affair she has broken off. He is splendidly brash and arrogant. Pamela Franklin as the shy teacher who pursues Miss Brodie, and Jane Carr as the ugly duckling student are all excellent. There is little to name more of the cast, but they are singly and collectively fine.

Question Of The Week

Berkeley but one wonders if it can't happen here. The whole educational system in the United States has been shaken up. I don't see what SDS has to gain by demonstrating any more. They've made their point. Now is the time to sit down with the administrators and talk things over. It's high time SDS did some constructive work. I've noticed where one particular SDS member was interviewed on Princeton campus by Newsweek. I happened to know he is one of the biggest heroin users on campus, that he participated in orgies with 15-year-old girls and that he is one of the most disciplined members of SDS. If he is representative of SDS, then I'd be tempted to say outlaw the organization.

Martin Westerfield, 7 Sycamore Lane, PHIS junior: I believe if a student wants to be recruited, he should be allowed to join. He should have the right to do this without being disturbed. I can see where possibly the recruiters should be located off campus but I don't agree with the methods the demonstrators are using to get them off. Only if the students have approached the administration and gotten nowhere, would I feel they are justified.

Gordon McBride, New York City, former engineer: I'm thoroughly in favor of demonstrations. If you believe in something, say it. Shout it! Do whatever you want—but don't interfere with other people's rights and properties. I read an account in The New York Times where demonstrators were blocking the way and keeping some employees of TDA from going into work. I believe if someone were blocking my way from getting into work and the police had not cleared them to one side, I'd fight. I don't mind demonstrations as long as there is no physical harm involved or property damage or as long as, who, feels his work is important, can continue his work.

FIRE IN GYM ANNEX

Origins Is Suspicious. "We don't know how it started, but it is of a suspicious nature," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan Tuesday of the fire that broke out early Sunday morning in an annex of the Borough gymnasium to the rear of Borough Hall.

A general alarm was sounded at 1:12 for the blaze which badly scorched the ceiling and walls of the brick addition that was constructed last year. Damage from fire, smoke and water was estimated at several thousand dollars.

The room had been filled with empty cardboard boxes for use in the annual Bryn Mawr Book sale this week which is being held for the first time in the gym.

According to Robert F. Mooney, the Borough Administrator and a volunteer fireman, a pane of glass in the door of the gym had been broken and the door was wide open when firemen arrived. The gym had been checked earlier, he said, and found to be secure.

YOUTH TAKES CAR

Hits 2 In Police Chase. A 16-year-old Township juvenile stole a car Monday afternoon and ended up facing a series of charges from Township juvenile officer Anthony Pinelli.

The youth has been charged with taking a car without the owner's consent; reckless driving; leaving a police officer and eluding the scene of an accident. Taken to County Jail, he was released to his parents Tuesday to await action by Trenton juvenile authorities.

The youth was spotted by Township Patrolman Howard Sweeney at 4:34 running a stop sign at Ewing and Valley Road. Sweeney, traveling in the opposite direction, saw the car turn around and gave chase. The youth then ran a stop sign at Franklin.

As he made his turn, he swung wide, hitting the curb

The Street Where You Live

Try Westcott Road, if you want a career in politics.

The Republicans' new candidate for mayor, Robert Cawley, lives at 10 Westcott Road in the same house former mayor Minot C. Morgan Jr. lived in when he was Democratic mayor of the Borough.

The present mayor, Henry S. Patterson, lives at 46 Westcott in the house once owned by Trislan B. Johnson, former Republican Councilman, and once a candidate for mayor.

Another Republican mayor, the late P. MacKay Sturges, lived at 50 Westcott Road.

Down the road and across the street at 61 Westcott, lives Archibald S. Alexander Jr., the Democrat whom Mr. Patterson defeated in 1967.

Mr. Alexander's neighbor is Republican Councilman Charles Cornforth, now running for re-election from 71 Westcott.

And way down toward Elm, lives former Borough Councilman William H. Walker at 168 Westcott.

and blowing out the car's two front tires. On Franklin, he narrowly missed two parked cars before sidestepping two more.

Continuing on Franklin, the car riding on its rims now, ran a third stop sign at Harrison Street. It continued all the way to the end of Franklin at Snowden Lane where it went through another stop sign. At Snowden, the car went completely out of control, doubled back and struck a pole.

The car was stolen, police said, from Derek Pizer, a roomer at a house at 799 Princeton-Kingston Road. The two parked cars that were hit were in the Borough, this was investigated by P.D. Ronald Holladay. P.D. Sweeney investigated the portion of the chase which took place in the Township.

TWO TRY TO ROB HIM

Student Tell Police. A Princeton University student came running out of Chapel Drive early last week to hail a passing police car and report an attempted robbery on campus.

According to police, Randall P. Osmond, 20, of Holder Hall told Patrolman William Hunter and James Bloor that he had just been robbed under the archway near the student center. He said that two Negro youths, one carrying a gun, had run out toward Tulane Street with another student giving chase.

Moments later, the police picked up two suspects at the corner of Witherspoon and Wiggins. They were released when the victim said later that the clothing looked the same but he could not positively identify their faces. Police added the victim was not carrying any money at the time.

SOTO PLEA DENIED

By County Judge. An appeal by Jose Soto, 36, to have the life sentence he is serving for the murder of a Princeton bank teller has been denied by Mercer County Judge A. Jerome Moore.

Judge Moore sentenced Soto last December 20 for the murder of Mrs. Kirsti Pfister, 27, a teller at the Princeton Bank and Trust Company. He shot Mrs. Pfister when she refused to obey his demand for money.

Saying that all the mercy of the court was considered at the time of sentencing, Judge Moore added: "The court does not feel it can in justice reduce your sentence."

At the hearing, Soto, told Judge Moore he had pleaded guilty not only because he committed the crime but to United Fund's board of trustees. She is a 1940 graduate of Moravian College for Women in Bethlehem, Pa.

Y-Y NAMES DIRECTOR

Mrs. McKeever Appointed. The Young Women's Christian Association of Princeton has appointed Mrs. James C. McKeever, 32 Dodd Avenue, executive director for the Princeton

YWCA. She has been acting director since January.

She is also past president of the Princeton YWCA and has been active in both volunteer and professional "Y" work for more than 35 years. The appointment was announced by Mrs. Heath Licklider, president of the board of directors, following the presentation of the personnel committee's recommendation by Mrs. Mary Rilor, chairman of the board's April meeting on Monday.

Program director of the Easton, Pa., YWCA from 1941 to 1943, and president of the Princeton YWCA's board of directors from 1964 to 1966, Mrs. McKeever has also been chairman of the Y Teen committee, member of the executive committee, chairman of the YWCA - YMCA building fund campaign's community division during 1967 and 1968, and a member of the joint YWCA - YMCA board of trustees since 1968. In 1966 she was a member of the steering committee for the New York City regional conference of the National YWCA.

Mrs. McKeever has been secretary of the Littlebrook School P.T.O. and, since 1968, a member of the Princeton United Fund's board of trustees. She is a 1940 graduate of Moravian College for Women in Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. McKeever's husband is director of church relations and alumni affairs at Westminster Choir College, and director of music at New York City's Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. They have

Check Writer. Paul Tulane is the only man who had a street in Princeton and a famous University named after him. He is also the only man to write a check for $3,000 made to the order of "the damned Presbyterian Church again."

Paul Tulane Day will be celebrated by the Historical Society of Princeton on Saturday, May 10, and the Society would love to know where that check is Princeton Bank and Trust not only honored it, despite the fragile comment, but framed it and hung it on the wall. ## $600 IS STOLEN

From Citgo Station. About $600 in cash was stolen between 4 and 7 a.m. Monday from the Citgo Service Station in the Princeton Shopping Center.

Detective Samuel Bianco of the Township police reported that entry was gained by breaking a pane of glass on the side of the station. He added that it had been checked by a patrol car at 4 that

Four National Merit Winners Named

Four students from this area, two at Princeton High School, one at Hopewell Central and one from The Lawrenceville School, have been listed as National Merit Scholarship winners. The awards provide a maximum of $1,500 a year for four years of college.

Winners from Princeton High are Kenneth L. Klothen, 215 Mt. Lucas Road, and John W. Peterson, 5 Tuth Lane, Rocky Hill, Ken, who plans to attend Swarthmore College and major in sociology, was editor of "The Tower," treasurer of the Interact Club, and a member of the student government. He is on the varsity lacrosse team. He won an American Cyanamid Merit Scholarship.

John, who received a RCA Merit Scholarship, was co-captain of the varsity cross country team, and also on the track and basketball squads. An Eagle Scout, he worked as an aide in the physical education office. John plans to attend Hamilton College in the fall.

Thomas C. Sherwood, 19 Cleveland Lane, has won the Mobil Merit Scholarship for his outstanding record at the Lawrenceville School. He was on the school honor roll consistently, copy editor of the school paper, and a member of several clubs there. He has chosen Harvard University and plans to major in mathematics.

Diana L. White, Feathered Lane, Hopewell, a senior at Hopewell Central High School, won a New York University Merit Scholarship. A former editor of the school newspaper, she was publisher of the school magazine and had already received a national science Foundation Scholarship. She plans to attend New York University and major in humanities.

FOUR ARE FINED

For Speeding. Four Princeton area residents were fined Monday in Borough Court for speeding by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr.

They are Glen G. Weiner, 25, 214 King Street, $22; Elias H. Stein, 38, 122 Dadds Lane, $20; Stella Rodgers, 42, and Franklin J. McLean, 31, both of Kendall Park, both $16.

Ludmila G. Popova, 35, 40 Einstein Drive, paid $15 for following too closely, while Robert P. Rich Jr. of Skillman paid the same amount for a late inspection violation.

Orren J. Turner 3rd, 19, 39 Hamilton Avenue, was fined $15 for hacking and turning in a roadway, and Pandelis Giannias, 21, 81 Holder Hall, $15.

morning and found to be intact. The cash was taken from a filing cabinet in the station's office.

Entralmers John Hammond and Anthony Gaylord investigated the theft. It was reported by Gary L. Gregory, one of the attendants.

In a second Township entry and lacrosse, $50.30 was found from a handtrunk at 40 Leigh Avenue between Thursday and Friday. Owner Turner Stevens told police the cash was taken from a briefcase that had been left near the cash register.

Lt. Richard Steiner investigated the entry, which was made by forcing a rear window with a screwdriver.

Honda Stolen. The nicest people ride a Honda say the ads—even thieves.

Michael J. Romney of Lawrence Apartments off Alexander Street reported to Township police Thursday the theft of his Honda motorcycle which he had left outside overnight. When he returned Thursday morning, he discovered his $250 cycle had been stolen, he said. Sgt. Lester Anderson investigated.

On Monday, Andrew D. Weiner reported the theft of a stereo player and eight tapes from his unlocked car that had been parked in front of his residence at 218 King Street.

He valued his loss at $97 but turned out not to be nearly that great. Detective Bianco reported that soon after, Mr. Weiner found the player and six of the tapes a few doors down the street.

Theft at Kline's. In the Borough, Kline's Espresso Station at Nassau and Murray Place was the victim of the theft of a canvas lunch bag containing $183 in cash and checks.

The bag was later recovered by the Township police on the Princeton-Kingston Road near Dadds Lane. The checks were still inside, but $139.75 in cash was missing.

Reported Thursday, the theft took place between April 17-18, police said. There was no sign of forced entry.

Mrs. P. L. Cuthbert, 522 Prospect Avenue, reported the theft of women's clothing, two purses, an umbrella and four floor mats from her car Monday evening while she was attending a production at McCarter Theatre. She valued the missing articles at nearly $200, police said.

Mrs. Cuthbert had parked her car on University Place near the theatre. To get inside, the thief broke open a right front window.

Police also report the theft last week of a vacuum cleaner from an office of Ventures Research & Development Group, 145 Witherspoon Street. Detective Robert McAvonia investigated.

WHERE TO PUT TRACK?
Recreation Board members of the Princeton Recreation Board, which has had its share of problems in its brief history, are on a mission to put an outdoor wooden track, a gift from Princeton University to the Princeton Regional School system that everyone wants but doesn't know where to put. Everyone at the high school from track coach Larry Ivan and athletic director Joseph Singol on down says the track belongs on the high school grounds, but school officials say there is no available space. Faced with a take-it-or-we'll-give-it-to-someone else ultimatum from the University, the school got permission to locate the track temporarily at Community Park. Ivan estimated the track would cost about $17,000 to duplicate.

But the compromise location has been scored by nearby residents from Race Street, 18 of whom signed a petition that was presented to the Board at its last meeting. The signers stated that the track is a hazard to children playing on its barked surface and to those riding their bikes on it. Also, the children playing on it create excessive noise.

The petition goes on to point out that it would be impractical to bus high school students to the track since an area closer to the school could be used, and, further, if buses were used, they are not permitted in the Race Street parking area. This means, the petition continued, that students would be discharged on Race Street.

Dean Chase, chairman of the Recreation Board, told the seven Race Street residents in attendance that he agrees the track belongs at the high school. He pointed out, however, that the school administration did not have time to consider all the consequences of the Community Park site.

He promised them he would keep after the school board for a decision on what to do with the track.

ETS HONORS TWO

For 25 Years of Service, Henry Chauncey and Miss Shirley B. Johnson were honored for 25 years of service with Education Testing Service at the company's annual Service Recognition Dinner last week.

Mr. Chauncey, president of ETS, and Miss Johnson, special assistant to the treasurer, were among 36 ETS staff members to receive gifts at the annual event. Thirty-four members of the firm's staff for 15 and 10 years were also honored.

"When the idea of ETS was first discussed in the mid-forties, it was Henry Chauncey who supplied the vision and leadership and drive that were needed to make the idea a reality," said executive vice-

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AT ETS: Henry Chauncey, president, and Miss Shirley B. Johnson, assistant to the treasurer, were honored at a dinner Saturday for 25 years of service with Educational Testing Service and the College Entrance Examination Board, one of the organization's founders. Some 34 other staff members were honored for 15 and 10 years of service at the annual Service Recognition Dinner.

President William W. Turnbull as he presented Mr. Chauncey with the award.

Fifteen year anniversaries were celebrated by James C. Conover, Henry S. Dyer, Miss Barbara Pitcher, Wesley W. Walton, and John A. Winterbottom, all of Princeton and Miss Betty Barlow of Pennington.

Princeton residents honored for ten years' service with ETS were Mrs. John H. Clausen, Mrs. James Floyd, Walter F. Foley, Herbert A. Grant, Mrs. Willie Headley, Mrs. Constance M. Johnston, Anthony Manganiella, Mrs. Scott T. Rittenour, Miss Edna M. Smock, G. Dykeman Sterling, and Mrs. Bernard L. Tchornik.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By Arts Council, The Arts Council of Princeton, a non-profit service organization, will hold its second annual meeting at 8 p.m., Tuesday, in Room B 213 of the Princeton University Engineering Building.

Representatives from all participating and sponsoring organizations of the Arts Council are urged to attend. New members will be elected to the Board of Trustees.

The Council's nominating committee includes Robert Dilley, chairman, Peter Cook and Mrs. Arthur Pontin.

Route 92: Another Step Closer to Construction

IT'S ON THE MAP TO STAY: After years of debate over various alignments, the route of the Princeton Bypass (Route 92) has been approved between Route 206 and 1. Construction, however, is still a few years away.

Don't expect to see bulldozers leveling the land for tomorrow or even a year from tomorrow, but at least the way has finally been cleared for construction to begin on the Route 92 Freeway, known for the past 20 years as the Princeton Bypass. State Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg announced last week that he had approved the western alignment of the freeway between Routes 206 and 1. The Route 1 to Route 33 portion was approved two years ago and work will begin on it late in 1970, Mr. Goldberg estimated.

CANDIDATES PICKED

By West Windsor Club. Theodore Peck was chosen as the Democratic candidate for Township Committee and Mrs. Eleanor Dearborn was picked to run for Tax Assessor, at a recent meeting of the West Windsor Township Democratic Club.

Mr. Peck, Glenview Drive, is a graduate of the University of Virginia. He is a member of the West Windsor Township Planning Board and Chairman of the Recreation and Parks Committee.

Mrs. Dearborn, Scott Avenue, has been a real estate agent for the past ten years. She is serving her ninth year on the West Windsor Board of Education and is a member of the Mercer County Library Commission.

BIRTHS

14 Born. Five girls and nine boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital, including twin boys born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dyckman, 105 Oak Creek Road, Hightstown.

Daughters were born to: Mr. Mrs. Wayne Braddock, 811 Broad Avenue, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Garvey, 341 Magie Apts., both on April 23; Mr. and Mrs. Elward Palmer, Northgate Apts., Cranbury, on April 24; Mr. and Mrs. John Heher, Rosedale Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Young, 342 Magie Apts., both on April 25.

Sons were born to: Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Reynolds, 33 Quaker Road, Princeton Junction, on April 19; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tyndale, 1 Hamilton Square, on April 20; Mr. and Mrs. William Cummings, 33 Princeton Arms, Cranbury, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Barras, 291 Western Way, and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Spang, 61 Van Dyke Road, all on April 21; Mr. and Mrs. John Schrecker, 66 Deepwater, on April 22; and Mr. and Mrs. Gustafson, 12 Nassau

Road, Kendall Park, on April 24.

No date has been given for the start of construction of the western section, but $3.5 million for design and acquisition of right of way has already been allocated in the Transportation Department's 1969 construction program. Approval of the alignment marks the end of a six-year battle over several routes, which stalled the bill authorizing construction of the freeway in the legislature. The statute was finally broken about two years ago, when the alignment was shifted so as not to conflict with the operations of the Kingston Trap Rock Co.

INFANT LAB OPENER
By Educational Testing. Educational Testing Service has opened an Infant Laboratory to study the behavior of infants during the first two years of life.

According to Dr. Michael Lewis, director of the new program, infants will spend about two hours per day at ETS, accompanied by their mothers.

Psychologists at the laboratory will observe the infant's reaction to sounds, lights and pictures, and will study his reflexes, hoping to learn more about the relation of infant behavior to later intellectual and personality development.

Any mother with an infant between 2 weeks and 2 years of age who will like to participate in the study should write to Dr. Michael Lewis, Educational Testing Service, at Princeton or call 921-9900, Extension 2318 or 2538.

STUDENT RATES SOUGHT

At Two Theatres Here. Student rates at the Playhouse and Garden theatres may be established shortly on a trial basis, Fred M. Blitcher, president of Palmer Square, Inc., said this week.

If such action is taken, it will follow a conference between directors of the corporation and members of a student committee representing secondary schools in the area. These include Princeton High, Princeton Day, Stuart, Hun and Lawrenceville.

Mr. Blitcher said a request for such action had come in the form of a letter signed by about 30 students at the theatres. They are asking a 50-cent reduction on the normal admission price of $1.50 and 75 cents when advanced prices

He ran off the road some 700 feet south of Valley Road and struck a fence post before coming to rest against a tree. Police identified the 22-year-old driver as Joseph L. Kozupa. He was taken to Princeton Hospital for treatment of contusions and lacerations of his neck.

The entire front end and windshield of Mr. Kozupa's car were damaged. He was issued a ticket for careless driving by Ptl. John Hammond.

Three Are Injured. A Pennington couple and a passenger in a second car were injured early last week in a collision at the intersection of Hamilton Avenue and Linden Lane.

One of the drivers, Mrs. Jane S. Hannauer, 33, 329 Broad Street, Pennington, was knocked unconscious by the impact and did not come to until she was in Princeton Hospital. She was treated for lacerations, multiple abrasions and contusions of the face, head and legs.

Her husband, George, 32, was treated for multiple contusions and abrasions of the face and head. Both were taken to the hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad. They were released.

A passenger in the other car, Patricia Jones, 25, 152 Nassau Street, was taken by patrol car to the hospital for gilt, attorney for the corporation, was unable to appear.

Board attorney Lowell F. Curran Jr. pointed out that under New Jersey Law, a corporation cannot represent itself. Owner Oliver Houghton told the board he and Mr. Baggett would return in May.

According to the report of the accident by Ptl. James Blour, the McGuire car, traveling on Linden, failed to observe the stop sign. He issued her a summons.

"NAACP" SEEKS FUNDS

In Princeton Drive, A 1969 drive to equal the $10,000 collected last year in Princeton has been launched by the Princeton Committee of the NAACP Special Contribution Fund.

The late Mrs. Bertha H. Mrs. Brandon as a tribute to Brandon had been serving as the late Dr. Martin Luther co-chairman of the Princeton King Jr. and a commitment drive with Mrs. W. Bruce Princeton, Jr. Since Mrs. Brandon's death, early this week, Mrs. Armstrong has asked that contributions be sent in Mrs. Brandon's name to P.O. Box 600, Princeton, or to Mrs. Armstrong at 221 Dadds Lane.

Contributions, which are tax deductible, should be made out to the NAACP Special Contribution Fund. Money is sent to the Fund in New York and is used for legal aid, voter education, youth activities and special projects such as providing food for some 18,000 residents of Mississippi.

Last year's fund-raising in Princeton was conducted by Mrs. Brandon as a tribute to Brandon had been serving as the late Dr. Martin Luther co-chairman of the Princeton King Jr. and a commitment drive with Mrs. W. Bruce

BUSINESS In Princeton

IBM WILL BE SEDUCED
 By Applied Data Research, Charging that International Business Machines is illegally intruding into the software manufacturing and marketing fields in the computer industry, Applied Data Research of Princeton has filed suit against the giant manufacturing and service firm. As compensation, it seeks treble damages amounting to $903.6 million.

ADRT joins two others in the computer field (see other Control Data Corp.) in filing civil suit against IBM in the federal court in Princeton. ADRT charges that IBM's monopolistic practices and violations of antitrust laws, Richard C. Jones, president of the firm whose headquarters are on Route 206, said in a statement issued to accompany filing of the suit. "The time is long overdue for the software companies and the computer users to be free of IBM's monopolistic control. IBM's policy of charging a single price for its computers, which has enabled hidden charges for software programming, has stifled technological growth. Computer users are to buy from who they want without having paid a penalty price to IBM in advance."

Equal Opportunity Sought. ADRT develops and markets "software"-systems programs used to run computers and to direct them to perform specific tasks. Mr. Jones added:

"It's time to recognize that the real growth in the computer industry will come from the software field. Software companies must have the opportunity to compete on equal terms with IBM."

filed previously against it, although before the first one was entered in court records last fall, it had announced that it was considering a voluntary move to separate the pricing of certain products and services by July 1. There is no indication when any of the suits will go to trial, and if ADRT loses, it is behind the other three complaints, it may well be a matter of several years.

Who goes sales and net earnings are compared, it is apparent that ADRT has singled out an antagonist of suitable proportions. Last year, the Princeton firm reported revenues of $12 million and per capita earnings of 61 cents. IBM, founded nearly a half century earlier, had gross revenue of $6.48 billion and earnings of $7.71 a share.

RED BANK FLIGHTS SET
 By Suburban Airlines, James Loeb, president of Suburban Airlines, announced this week a new program of 16 flights between Princeton, Kennedy International, N. Y., and the Red Bank Airport, New Jersey. The first and only air service between Princeton and the shore area.

At the beginning of April, Suburban took over former routes of Princeton Airways, with flights to Trenton, Washington and the New York and New Jersey metropolitan area. The new schedule, Princeton to Kennedy, passengers will no longer be routed through Newark Airport.

All Princeton to Red Bank flights will be made in 19-passenger, Porter twin Otters. The first flight of the day leaves Princeton at 7:30 a.m., arriving in Red Bank at 7:50 and continues to Kennedy, beginning at 8:20 a.m. and spaced through the day until 11:30 p.m.

Biweekly Stock Quotations of Area Firms

Beginning with this issue, TOWN TOPICS inaugurates a biweekly listing of stock quotations of area firms, whose stock is traded on the over-the-counter markets. Although a few of the companies are listed daily in the financial pages of the New York Times, the majority are not published regularly, and day-to-day prices are available only through a service known as the "pink sheets" subscribed to by brokerage firms.

The Princeton office of Clark, Dodge & Co. will provide approximate prices for the securities at the close of the market Monday through Friday. The prices quoted are approximate, as the "pink sheets" list the transactions carried out in a stock the previous session, and there may be several transactions in one particular stock, or other firms go public in this area, they will add to the list.

 to find out if the one-size Pretty Pollys would sell nationally, as well as in Princeton.

Convinced, David Landau formed Landau Import, Inc. for East Coast marketing after negotiating with B. K. Gupta, president of Pretty Polly (Canada) Ltd. and B. K. Gupta, Inc. Pretty Polly is a textile firm in England belonging to Thomas Tilling conglomerate. It has become the largest hosiery manufacturer outside of the United States.

Shipments in Boeing 707s. And Mr. Gupta, the New Delhi business man who started an import firm in Montreal as a result of his visit to Expo conceived the idea of importing the Pretty Pollys by air freight. He began in April 1968, and now his Boeing 707 jets are bringing carcasses of 25 to 30 thousand dozen pairs every 15 days from the new plant in Killarney to Montreal, according to Robert Landau. Until he came along, no body ever figured how to bring in high quality English hosiery at a cost to compete with American hosiery," he says. With ship carriers, it takes six to eight weeks, the insurance cost is high, and there are losses at the docks, and delays flying cargoes of this size. Save time, insurance and, is actually cheaper!

Landau Import is warehousing the stockings in the basement of the Landau Store on Nassau at the moment, and plans are being made for a New York office.

It all began last year when David Landau reluctantly ordered a brand of hold up stockings to try them on his customers. The girls who shun birdies bought them out so promptly that he tried to get more. He found the company was back ordered, and had raised its prices. He was still hopeful, when an English girl came into the shop one day and in mentioning her former job in England with Pretty Polly, she asked, "Did you know they have gone only into stockings the hold up?" Mr. Landau, who used to carry the firm's sportswear, wrote a fast letter of inquiry and as of last June had a regular supply of the hosiery in his store.

"We initially went into the 'hold ups,'" Robert comments, "but when we tried the panty hose they just about took over the business."

The stockings are packaged all squashed into a 3 tube labeled "Pretty Pollys," Leprichaus. The hold ups and panty hose come in slim, flat packs. The stockings are on prepressing "until the girls put them on!" Robert comments.

"It's a little difficult to get them to stay the first pair, but then they keep coming back or writing us letters, ordering for their aunts and their grandmothers. Two we get orders from Holland, Michigan, Swarthmore College, Va., New York."

The hold ups, he adds, are comfortable beyond what anyone expects. "They don't even know the hand is there!"

"The Pretty Pollys are a fantastic item. There's nothing here like it. Hanes, for instance, hopes to get into production this fall. And the price is competitive, ($1 to $2.50).

"We keep looking for a flaw in our thinking!"

COMPLAINT SIGNED

Neighbor vs. Neighbor. Lew is Kaplan, 8 Autumn Hill Road, has filed in Princeton Township court a complaint against Mrs. Judith Albert, also of Autumn Hill Road, charging Mrs. Albert with trespass, and entering the Kaplan home without permission on December 28, 1968.

The complaint, filed April 11, will be heard next Wednesday, May 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the regular Township court session before Magistrate Burton Peckin.

The charge is said to have grown out of an alleged bite inflicted upon Mrs. Albert by the Kaplan dog.

MUSIC In Princeton

FINAL CONCERT HEARD

In Marlboro Series. The final "Music From Marlboro" concert of this season was held Monday night at Princeton University's 10 McCosh Hall.

The program, which represented music by Viennese composers, included the early and on Quilist in Eb Major by Mozart; the String Trio of Arnold Schoenberg and the Octet in C minor by Schubert. The instrumentalists, who appeared on the program, were Felix Galimir and Hiroko Yajima, violins; Samuel Rhodes, viola; Fortunato Arico, violin; cello; Julius Levine, double bass; Richard Stoltzman, clarinet; Joyce Kelley, bassoon; and Richard Solis, horn.

In the Mozart Quartet which begin the program, Miss Yajima played first violin, Mr. Galimir, second violin. This is the first time the better musicians. It was played straightforwardly enough, however.

Richard Stoltzman's musical substance to the piece, which probably dates from Mozart's early teens. Its listing is K. 17, which for Mozart implies an early work.

The Schoenberg Trio which follows was given a stunning interpretation by Messrs. Galimir, Rhodes and Arico. This late work of Schoenberg's is beginning to become less problematic now, though the difficulty in forming a clear opinion of the music results from the composer's erratic changes in tempo (and mood) over minute passages of time. Each music section is in itself a brilliant working out of ideas, both melodic as well as textural.

Just when one appears to settle back to enjoy these marvelous bits of sonorities, Schoenberg abruptly changes everything. Despite this observation, this work continues to gain in stature with each re-hearing. It may not offer a sensuous impression on first hearing, but it presents a highly imaginative conception in the deployment of string effects from so few players.

Concluding the program, the entire ensemble of the aforementioned performers played Schubert's Octet "of heavenly length." Each of these movements (all six of them) are incredibly long, even for Schubert.

To make matters worse, the group preferred exceedingly slow tempi for the faster movements and slower than slow tempos for the slow movements, with the result, that this piece which usually takes about 45 minutes to play, lasted the better part of an hour, or so it seemed.

Now the unusual aspect of all this is to wear down the listener while listening to some exquisitely beautiful music. The various talents of the individual members of this Marlboro group are unquestionably equal to the best music makers around.

The bassoonist, Miss Kelley, was especially convincing. Her tone was robust, strong, and always clear, even in the thickest portions of the score.

Mr. Solis is a horn player of considerable skills whose tone is refined and solid, while Mr. Stoltzman's playing of the clarinet part of Schubert's score was a brilliant example of tone control and phrase shading at its best. The remaining string members displayed some fine work as well. Mr. Arico has a warm, big violoncello sound and plays a line with breadth and verve. Mr. Rhodes is one of the finest violists of his generation and his playing con- tinued to demonstrate his great gifts.

The Schubert Octet seems almost too long for a second half of a program that followed a first portion of normal length. Back in Schubert's time, however, people expected a concert to last for three hours or more so one cannot blame poor Schubert for his excesses.

The music of each movement is beautiful and perhaps, if it were possible to shave off some of the repeats in the Scherzo and Minuet, the work would not seem so tiresome, but then the total concept could seem out of proportion, since the two aforementioned movements, even with the repeats, are already the shortest of the work.

CLUB TO PERFORM

Italian Comic Opera, The Princeton University Opera Club will perform several operas by Giovanni Pergolesi on Friday and Saturday nights in the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies.

The public performances will begin at 8:15 Friday and 8:30 Saturday. Pergolesi's compositions will be conducted by Joseph De Rugeris, a senior at Columbia University.

"La serva padrona," a one-act comic opera, will star Bonnie Landfield and Matthew Epstein. Solists in the performance of "Stabat Mater" will be Martha Willford and Clarna Dale.

The production is under the supervision of David Abramowitz, a junior in the Princeton Music Department, and the opera will be staged by Nicholas Deutsch, an actor in the McCarter Theatre company.

GLEE CLUB TO APPEAR

In Alexander Hall. The Princeton University Glee Club, conducted by Walter Nollner, will present its annual Houseparties Concert from 8:30 p.m., Friday, in Alexander Hall.

The program, featuring folk songs and spirituals, will cost $2 per person and $1 for students. Tickets are available from Glee Club members, at the University Store and at the door before the concert.

MARKEY TO PLAY

At Seminary Concert. Dr. George Markey, internationally acclaimed organist, will present a full concert in Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary, at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday, May 13. The program is open to the public without charge and is presented under the auspices of Dr. David Hugh Jones, Seminary Professor of Music.

Dr. Markey is director of the Gullmott Organ School and Director of Music at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, both in New York City, and Professor of Organ at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, New Jersey.

FOLK CONCERT SET

At Alexander Hall. Fresh from the "Folk Meets Pop" Festival in London this March, folk singer Patrick Sky will sing at Alexander Hall, 8:30 p.m., Saturday, May 17. The young singer, is the second internationally known folk star to be sponsored by the Princeton Folk Music Society this year.

London newspaper reviews characterized Sky as "the best young songwriter to come out of the West since Bob Dylan" and "simple, direct and with a distinctive, relaxed and very funny style." The Daily Telegraph praised his "warm and flexible voice, dry but gentle irony . . . very commentary."

Sky, a Georgian with some American Indian ancestry, has several records currently available, from Vanguard "Patrick Sky" and "A Harvest of Gentle Clang," and his latest from Verve "Reality is Bad Enough." He has appeared at Town Hall and Carnegie Hall, New York, as well as the Newport and Philadelphia folk festivals.

The Princeton Folk Music Society has sponsored the local appearances of Jean Ritchie, New Lost Ramblers, Doc Watson, Dave Van Ronk, and other outstanding folk artists. The Society which meets monthly for sing-a-longs, informal programs and special workshops, is open to all are folk singers or players, professional and amateur, of any age.

Reserved seat tickets for the Patrick Sky concert are available for $2.50 at Male's Book Store, The Princeton University Store and Princeton Music Center.

RECITALS SCHEDULED

By New School. The third in a series of informal piano recitals is scheduled for Friday at 8 p.m. in the recital hall of the New School for Music Study, 353 Nassau Street.

Student participants will represent the elementary, intermediate and advanced departments of the school. Miss Louise Goss, the school's director, is in charge.

Soloists include: Elizabeth Collins, Ann Reichard, Steven Magee, Kimberly Thomas, Jason Morgan, Karen Whitehead, Paul Mansfield, Karen Liu, Denis Freilighyusa, Kathleen Napoli, Barbara Miller, Susan Specter, Carol Hood, Klaus Belohoubek, Elsie Armstrong, Leslie Vial.

MAILBOX

In Love as a Hatable Servant.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The recent announcement by the Trustees of Princeton University that the Princeton Inn would be taken over by the University in connection with the education program would be a real shock to our community. It should, however, bring with it an answer to one very serious question which must be faced by the University and the community, namely what limits are to be placed on the amount of property to be withdrawn from the tax rolls with the resultant burden being shifted to the taxpayers unless some relief is forthcoming from the organization making the withdrawal.

Approximately 60% of all the property in Princeton is now exempt from taxation. The amount is constantly rising. The withdrawal of the Princeton Inn property assessed at $176,000 will mean a loss of $23,000 in taxes. Further, more, there is the distinct possibility of the withdrawal from the tax rolls of the Palmer property, the University Place properties (for additional dormitories) and the further loss of Prospect Street clubs as these organizations are forced out of existence by other facilities subsidized by the University, viz. the Stevenson Hall and Wilson College plans. Two club properties are already off the tax rolls.

The above will mean a loss of more than $2,000,000 of present tax revenues. At the 1959 tax rate this would mean a loss to the Borough of $134,000 in taxes which would have to be made up by increasing every one's tax bill.

This problem is not confined to Princeton. For instance, a number of years ago representatives of Harvard and the municipality of Cambridge agreed to a mutually satisfactory solution whereby Harvard agreed that whenever it withdrew property from the tax rolls it would continue to pay taxes, or strictly make donations in lieu of taxes, in an amount equal to what the taxes would be on the valuation of the property at the time of its takeover for University purposes. Thus if the property was assessed at $100,000 and Harvard built a structure valued at $1,000,000 it would pay the municipality on the basis of $100,000—not one million.

While the Harvard solution may not suit the Princeton situation some answer to this problem must be found. The tax burden now being carried by the home owners and businesses of the Princeton community must not be increased by the continued withdrawal of taxables from the tax rolls. To do so will only accentuate the housing situation in which families of moderate means are finding it almost impossible to rent or continue to own a home.

CHARLES R. ERDMAN, JR.
20 Boudant Street

Editor's Note: Dr. Erdman's figure of $2,000,000 reflects use of the 1969 Borough tax rate of $2.74 and is therefore even higher than the loss in revenue of $28,000 which the Borough tax office gave TOWN TOPICS for use in last week's story. That was based on the 1960 rate.

Protest to Dr. Guheen.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have written to President Guheen.

Dear President Guheen:
As a resident of Princeton I feel it is my duty to write to you. I do not deny that a group of groups have the right to assemble and to express their opinions—but loud, abusive and obscene language crossed the boundaries of University property on Friday, April 18, and could be heard not only on Nassau St. but in the shops as well.

By not taking any action whatsoever, I feel that the University officials shirked and neglected their legal and moral responsibilities to this community.

By not even attempting, at least to suggest to the alleged group that they remove themselves to Alexander Hall or some other University building, the general public was subjected to the most vile, atrocious language I have ever heard. In my opinion, the language used was in violation of a Statute of the State of New Jersey. What action does the University expect to take against these individuals?

Earl Owens Deserves Support.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am writing on behalf of the more than 700 Princeton High School teachers and students who have petitioned our Board of Education to hire Mr. Earl Owens as a Special Education teacher at Princeton High School for the school year 1969-1970. Mr. Owens has been in our system for three years, and to date his tenure has not been approved.

We all feel very strongly that Mr. Owens is making a substantial contribution to the students of Princeton High School, and we wish to see this man continue his work here in Princeton. We all realize the many serious problems that are confronting the high school today: narcotics, extortion, beatings, and seem-

NOTICE

TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on subjects of national or international nature cannot be considered.

Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double spaced, and must be signed for publication. Those received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

Being a fundamental lack of discipline and respect on the part of many of the students.

Mr. Owens is one of the few people who has been able to gain the respect and obedience of a tough and usually unmanageable section of the school's population. He has worked to get students a job after graduation, and the large number of signatures on the petitions testifies to the high esteem in which he is held throughout the school.

That interested persons have approached the school administrators who are responsible for making the official recommendation on Mr. Owens. Dr. Houcheit, the Director of Special Services, has been quoted as saying that he does not feel Mr. Owens can work well with the students in regard to placing them in some kind of employment after they have finished high school, while at the same time Dr. Houcheit admits that he has not talked to any students that have been helped into jobs by Mr. Owens. Likewise, Dr. Houcheit has not talked with these students' parents or their employers.

As far as can be determined, Dr. Houcheit's recommendation is based upon two classroom evaluations that he has conducted on Mr. Owens. Two classroom evaluations in three years of teaching is apparently enough to form enough of an opinion to bar a teacher from receiving tenure.

On behalf of everyone who has signed the petitions supporting Mr. Owens, I ask the taxpayers and parents of Princeton to get involved, to inquire into this decision. We know Mr. Owens, we have worked with him, taught with him, coached with him, and been taught by him.

It is easy to find the many problems in our schools today, and it is so refreshing to find a bright spot in an otherwise cloudy picture. We ask you, the Princeton community, to keep this bright spot in Princeton. We ask you to contact Dr. Houcheit or Dr. Phelps and voice your feelings about Mr. Owens, urging them to reverse their hasty decision and take another look at a man who is working to make Princeton a better and a safer place to go to school. Support us in trying to keep one of Princeton's good points in Princeton.

LIBRARY WILL EXPAND
Construction of Firestone Set. Construction was started last Thursday on a two-story, below grade addition to Princeton University's Harvey S. Firestone Memorial Library. Upon completion in the fall of 1978, it will provide some 43,000 additional square feet of floor space.

Expansion of the present "B" and "C" floors along about half the present frontage on Nassau Street is expected to accommodate the building's growth needs for the next decade. Dr. William S. Dix, University Librarian said. By that time plans will be implemented to expand the two floors toward Washington Road.

The new addition is part of a $2.5 million extension and renovation program for the library. It will provide urgently needed additional stack space for expanding book collections and several hundred additional study seats, principally at individual tables.

There also will be a dozen new graduate study and seminar rooms, faculty studies, offices for staff specialists, and a relocated mail room, which will be moved from its present location to accommodate the growth of the Library's special collection.

After the below grade building is completed, the present lawn will be fully restored and landscaped to within 30 feet of the present wall fronting Nassau Street. Daylight will be admitted to the lower levels by two large landscaped "light courts."

Construction costs are being underwritten in large part by gifts from the Firestone family, the largest single donor to the original building, with ad-

IT'S BIGGER! The three-legged stool has a magnifying lens in its seat, and that baseball on the floor looms large indeed when you peer at it through the lens as Billy Ellis is doing. The stool, made by Creative Playthings, is on view in the "Seeing Eye" optics exhibit now at John Witherspoon School. Mrs. Betty Benedick, of the Playthings' staff, joins Billy in his investigation.

Additional aid from grants from the U.S. Office of Education and from the bequests to the University of William Watson Smith, a member of Princeton Class of 1892, a resident of Pittsford, N.Y., and Mrs. Ruth Frost Shipman, whose husband, Professor Henry Robinson Shipman, taught at Princeton from 1905 until 1935.

The construction start on Thursday, Dr. Dix pointed out, "will necessarily and unfortunately bring to a close" the so-called "Hudbrass Dig," the joint archaeological project of the Princeton Historical Society, the Princeton Regional School system and the University. The Hudbrass Tavern, presumably named for a character in one of Samuel Butler's poems, was built on the present library site about 1760. The early building, according to maps and an advertisement for the sale of the property in 1765, had 12 rooms with a cellar and numerous out-buildings offering accommodation for 40 travelers and 30 horses. It was used as a hotel until the late 1800s, when it was torn down. Large numbers of students under adult leadership have dug for the past several weeks, locating the foundations of the tavern and many artifacts, some of significant value in documenting information about items used in that period.

GOAL OF 100 SET
By Fresh Air Fund Committee. The Mercer County Fresh Air Fund Committee announced last week it will try to bring 100 needy New York children to the Mercer area for two weeks of vacation this summer.

The committee, co-chaired by Mrs. Jane D. Howe of Princeton and Dr. Gerald A. Tlappa of the Princeton Jaycees, will be the coordinating body for the entire county. Children will arrive for two weeks or more on July 10 and July 24, with return trips — Continued on Next Page

I called Mrs. Graves and asked about a dog for my son. She told me as soon as she and one that would be nice for him, she would call. We were called and she gave my son a very nice dog, which he has named "King."

The dog has brought much joy and happiness to my son. He has something to do now also the dog loves him and he loves the dog, we all love "King." Again I must say many many thanks to Mrs. A. C. Graves, the most wonderful person I know and the great job she and the Small Animal people are doing. Keep up the good work, Mrs. Graves!

Wanted: A Mailbox.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
About a year ago the public mail box opposite Princeton Avenue was removed by the Post Office. We — and I speak for many people living in this area, especially the older ones — have to go either to Harrison Street, where the crossing of the street becomes more impossible every day, or walk many blocks up to the Catholic Church where there are four mailboxes within one block.

This, I believe, is a great injustice and an untenable situation. I have talked twice to the Postmaster about it but no action was taken, although he agreed that the corner of Princeton Avenue and Nassau Street would be a good location for a mailbox because it would not delay any traffic. Whoever believes our plea is justified should write either to the Postmaster or to Town Topics in the hope that our concerted efforts will bring results. We cannot accept the excuse that there are not enough mailboxes available. The U.S. can afford another public mailbox for the taxpayers.

In Praise of Mrs. Packard.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Like many other citizens, I was greatly relieved when Mrs. Packard withdrew her resignation. It would be a tragedy for the community to lose such an imaginative and enlightened principal, especially in a time of transition when teachers, parents, and children need strong links of continuity.

Mrs. Packard has remarkable gifts for giving confidence to her new teachers. An especially beloved teacher, Ruth Popofsky, who died of cancer about a year ago, spoke often about her indebtedness to Mrs. Packard during her years at the Riverside School. Perhaps no two people in Princeton had more diverse backgrounds than Alice Packard and Ruth Popofsky. Yet such was the leadership and perceptiveness of Mrs. Packard that Miss Popofsky did her most remarkable teaching in her years at Princeton, as is testified by the little booklet in her honor, "A Dream to Grow On." Miss Popofsky was one of the many teachers in Princeton who found fulfillment over the years under Mrs. Packard's wise guidance and gallant support.

WE DO!

Didn't the driver take the curve?
He took too large a curve . . .
He sheered off a telephone pole,
Went through the windshield and back again
while the car careened deep into a field.
His car was demolished. He was hospitalized.

Why did it happen? He had been drinking. In fact, he had previously lost his license for two years for drunken driving.

It's unrealistic to preach, "If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, don't drink." Heavy drinkers go on drinking. They go on driving. Sooner or later they very likely get themselves into serious, possibly fatal trouble. Every year we kill each other off at a rate of about 50,000 or more as we drive the highways, and in about half of the death tallies, alcohol was a factor in the killing.

Are we going to stop the drinking? Not likely. The use of alcohol at social gatherings is an accepted folkway in our society. We spend about $12 billion a year on alcohol — ranging from a short beer to double martinis.

At conventions today — even, in some cases, a convention of religious leaders — you're likely to find provision for a "fellowship hour." (Translation: cocktails.) Buying a prospective customer a drink is considered a legitimate (often tax-deductible) business expense.

And in homes throughout the Princeton community, hospitable hosts will be serving drinks to friends who shortly will be driving home.

These will be respectable, responsible friends. They will drink, more or less moderately. And then they will drive.

And the good people who serve a couple of drinks or more as part of an evening's socializing will agree wholeheartedly that something must be done to lessen the slaughter on the highways and get the drunken drivers off the road.

Police in most states often hesitate to write up a drunken driving charge. It's too difficult to make it stand up in court. So a motorist is frequently charged only with "reckless driving" or "driving too fast for conditions," or "failure to observe proper precautions."

Since we know that it is time, not activity, that determines the burning off of alcohol, the social drinker's biggest mistake is in driving too soon after that "last one."

We pass along the National Safety Council's advice to hosts: Have non-alcoholic beverages (coffee, soft drinks, fruit punch) available for the final "one for the road." Encourage the one-for-one idea: one hour before driving for each drink, or no more than one drink an hour for a driver. (And watch the double shots.) Close the bar an hour or so before guests are expected to leave. But none of that "lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine" preachment. Just make it casually clear that this is the way things are done at your house.

The drunk who leaves your house is a potential killer.

Take care! We care.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT YOUR KID'S CAMP?

The accident prevention specialist for the U.S. Public Health Service was making a spot check of children's summer camps for research purposes. He was appalled by what he found at one camp.

The camp's director said that hazardous equipment and substances were carefully kept in his living quarters under lock and key at all times. But in walking across the cluttered yard to the director's door, the PHS man tripped over a can of gasoline. Nearby were two power mowers and other equipment that curious children get in trouble with.

This wasn't all. The camp director spoke very positively about how a camp's staff should continually look for hazards around the grounds and make necessary corrections immediately. Yet the inspector, who could not restrain his sarcasm, wrote in his report, "I know he feels deeply about this because the broken steps going down to the bathing area are going to get fixed one of these years."

In the same vein, the inspector commented on the "very unique garbage disposal system." "I found out, much to the director's embarrassment, that when the cooks think the meat is spoiled they throw it out the window for stray dogs and other animals around the camp."

Perhaps worst of all was the camp's security system. Each counselor was supposed to know where the children were at all times, the director said. At the swimming dock area, he displayed a board on which the children's numbered badges indicated whether the children were in a canoe or swimming. At that time the canoes were in, and there was apparently no one in swimming. Yet the badges indicated that three children were in a canoe.

The lifeguard remembered seeing the missing children bring in the canoe and walk into the woods. No one seemed alarmed, reported the inspector, since "the children always show up at mealtime."

Children don't always show up at mealtime. In the unfamiliar setting of a summer camp, every child needs special instruction and a kind of supervision — compared to what he's used to at home — until he becomes thoroughly familiar with the new environment of camp. Most children don't get enough camping experience to reach that point.

Few states have regulations specifically pertaining to resident camping. There are public health laws that deal with water supply and sewage disposal, but in most of the states there's no check, for example on the age or physical, mental or moral qualifications of the camp director or any of the counselors. Often, the only person who has had to qualify for his or her job is the lifeguard.

The fancy brochures published as sales promotion pieces by many camps don't always tell the whole story. There's no reason to accept them as gospel. The only way to judge is to go there yourself — forearmed with the right questions.

There are an estimated 10,000-11,000

summer camps from coast to coast, attended by about 6 million children in the age 6 to 16 bracket. The father of a 15-year-old boy who drowned on a canoe trip on the west branch of the Penobscot in Maine, was told in Washington that camp safety is a state matter. Since his son's camp was in New York, he questioned the New York attorney general's office and found that the state camp safety is governed by the sanitation code. There are no regulations for screening camp personnel in most states, he found.

With so little regulation and inspection adding to the fact that camps do not have to record publicly any accidents or injuries except fatal ones, what assurance does a parent have?

The American Camping Association has developed a set of specifications over the years that must be met and adhered to by its 3,000 member camps. A camp requesting membership is first visited by a pair of inspector-advisors who spend several days, sometimes longer, observing the camp in action.

Seldom does a camp come up with a perfect record. The ACA has no police power. In the rare case of a flagrant defect and refusal of cooperation by the camp management, the ACA can only deny the camp membership in its organization. The YMCA and Boy Scouts have their own standards, though many such camps are also ACA members. The ACA has the only set of standards that call for on-the-spot inspection.

Visit the camp, or rely on the recommendation of someone you trust implicitly. This applies to day camps, residents camps, music camps, sports camps, religious camps, and so on.

Is the camp director at least 25 years of age, with camping education or training within the past three years? Are minimum age levels for counselors maintained: day camp 18; family and resident camp, 19; travel camp, 21. Are they experienced counselors? Is the counselor-camper ratio 1 to 8 if the children are age 8 and over; 1 to 6 if they are under age 8?

Check the safety of the waterfront area. Most accidents occur here. Are foot trails kept separate from roads to the greatest possible extent? What fire precautions are taken? Is firefighting equipment adequate and does the staff know how to use it? Does the camp require the inoculations stipulated by public health authorities? Is there a doctor or nurse in residence at all times, if it is a family resident camp? Is a night patrol operated after hours?

Check the sanitation — such as pasteurized or certified milk, storage for perishable foods, dishwashing procedures, toilet facilities, trash disposal.

Check the camp stationwagon, or truck or jeep — is it insured? Are the drivers qualified under law? If the camp charters a bus or boat, does it meet the ACA transportation standards?

A camp that is spending time and money to meet top standards should be anxious to answer your questions. Evasiveness may be a sign that all is not high caliber.

ART In Princeton

ART AT GALLERY 100
Paintings and Prints. Showing through May 22nd at Gallery 100 are oil paintings by Stephen McNeely and a private collection of original Chinese watercolor prints on silk from Hong Kong. It sounds like a strange combination of techniques to be found side by side, and it is, but, in a way, there is a common denominator in the primary decorative sense in all most everything on the walls. The fruits and vegetables in Mr. McNeely's still lifes are grouped boldly together in a decidedly conscious decorative pattern. The arrangement of Chinese birds, flowers and butterflies are pieces of carefully detailed decoration.

Overall, there are a few changes of pace in the show, and they come in a land scape called "Pines" in which McNeely has handled with style the tall trees against a pale sky, and in a small portrait of a girl in profile whom he has painted quite freely and with a nice quality of youth.

Silk Life. Among McNeely's main subjects which are still life, several paintings stand out. For one "Pears," a clear, simple statement, almost an exercise, while not exciting is solid in form, color and composition.

Another, deceptively named "Mushrooms," involves a more elaborate organization of purple eggplants, red mushrooms etc. and the finest, freshest mushrooms of the season which work out the design. This still life has the best "life," the strongest color and point quality and is, without a doubt, the most vigorous example of the young painter's work shown here.

Stephen McNeely is a painter and sculptor who studied at the National Academy of Design and the Beaux Arts Institute of Design as well. He has exhibited at the National Academy, The Currier Biennial, the Virginia Biennial, The Audubon Artists, at the Carnegie "Directions in American Painting," in the Metropolitan Museum of Art's "Artists for Victory" and at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts Annual. He is represented in the Newark Museum and private collections, and has been the recipient of the Balgordon Award for painting at the National Academy.

On Silk. The Chinese silk prints call in a well-remembered Oriental style. Drawn with precision, they present no lost edges, no casual gestures, no very strong color.

The artists have created charming bits of incidental decoration which evoke the shape and character of certain birds and flowers or, upon occasion, a crawling butterfly. Two black birds vying at each other on a branch of apple blossom make a particularly timely picture.

Mini Gallery. In the little front gallery of Gallery 100 there is on view a second series of prints by Walter

FRESH FROM THE MARKET: "Mushrooms" is the title of this oil by Stephen McNeely now on view at Gallery 100. With the mushrooms are eggplant, a pineapple and red onions.

Cleveland, a young artist who has studied and worked both in the East and West.

He writes, "I was born in Santa Barbara and raised in a rural atmosphere which helped foster an appreciation of nature. In 1961, I enrolled in the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts where I first started print making under Morris Blackburn, At Pasadena City College, I studied under Shiro Ikegawa and Ben Sakoguchi. His small prints are fruit and flower subjects. Obviously influenced by Oriental association, his work is simple and totally understated. Again it is "Pears" which caught our eye and then the "Three Poppies," done in three tones of red atop long, slim stems. These are slight but also quite fresh.

YMCA CAMP EXPANDS

To Lake Timagami. The Princeton YMCA Ranger Tripping Camp has been expanded this summer to include a site at Lake Timagami, Upper Ontario, Canada.

Sixteen boys between the ages of 12 and 14 will participate in an 18-day program on Timagami Island, including a week long canoe trip.

YMCA leader Bruce Schundler has been named director of the Canadian outpost camp. The program will begin July 7 and the boys will return to Princeton on July 23.

DELEGATES NAMED

To Legion Program. Five delegates and alternates from Hopewell Valley Central High School have been named as representatives to the New Jersey Boys' State program, sponsored by the American Legion.

The delegates for the program, scheduled from June 22 to June 28 at Rider College, were chosen by the Hopewell Valley American Legion Post No. 339 and the Hopewell Valley Regional School District.

The student delegates are Robert D. Clawson, Barry L. Billman, Mark Rosser, James D. Pierson, and James C. Burd. Alternates are Glenn A. Kasirama, Richard F. Orr, Andrew A. Buescher, William C. Grath, and David F. Salvaggio.

SPORTS in Princeton

DOUBLEHEADER ON TAP

In Baseball, Lacrosse, Harvard teams in baseball and lacrosse will meet Princeton here Saturday to provide an afternoon of steady action on adjacent Clarke and Finckle fields east of Palmer Stadium. The ball game will begin at 1; the lacrosse an hour later.

All other Princeton teams will compete elsewhere. The crew will defend the Carnegie Cup against Cornell with Yale at Ithaca, with the 150-lb. oarsmen rowing against Yale and Harvard on the Charles River at Cambridge. The tennis team, probably eliminated from title contention last week by a 5-3 loss to Harvard, will face Williams and Dartmouth on the road. The track team faces virtually unbeatable opposition in Harvard at Cambridge, while the golfers, upset here by Navy last weekend, 5-2, hope to bounce back with a victory over Yale at New Haven.

Tigers in Charge. Starting the week as the only undefeated team in the Ivy Lacrosse League, Princeton benefited considerably from results on other campuses. Having taken charge of Brown in mid-April by a 10-5 count, the Tigers watched appreciatively while the Bruins knocked off two of the other contenders when they defeated Harvard and Yale.

The outcome left the rest of the circuit hoping that someone could take care of Princeton, which appears to have it made if overconfidence does not contribute to an upset.

Hungry after last year's disappointing 3-6-2 record, the Orange and Black should have the combined ability and determination to take the Ivy crown in this sport.

Coach Ferris Thomsen's team started so slowly against last - place Dartmouth that it was on the short end of a 2-1 score going into the second period. The Indians were held scoreless, however, in the next 15 minutes and the home team had a 4-2 lead at the intermission.

It developed into a one-sided contest thereafter. Paced by the five points credited to sophomore attackman Pete Johnson and the fine all-around play of junior attackman Kirk Unruh, the game opened steadily broke the Princeton Thomsen began to substitute freely, but the score mounted to 12-2 before the losers managed a final goal.

Penn was on the schedule at midweek, hoping to upset the Orange and Black after achieving a 7-4 victory over Cornell for its first conquest of the Ithacans in several years. Harvard, Saturday's opponent, has a considerable degree of talent and depth and can make constant trouble for the Princetonians. If they show any tendency to coast.

UNEARNED RUNS COSTLY

Tigers Lose at Hanover. Last week, Princeton's baseball team unloaded a one-two punch rarely matched by an eastern college nine when it defeated top-rated Villanova and St. John's on successive afternoons. Having saved its best pitcher for the league game at Hanover 48 hours later, it had a chance to add lustre to its most successful start in a decade and a half by adding Dartmouth to its growing list of victims.

For 2½ innings, the Tigers and pitcher Bo Hunter with his earned run average of .81 were in complete charge, moving out to a 3-0 lead. By the time the third frame had ended, Hunter's glittering ERA was still intact but he was on the bench and the Indians were ahead, 7-3. Six of the runs were unearned.

The Princeton defense came apart at the seams, committing six errors during the afternoon. Two Dartmouth home runs - one a biceps-loaded affair in the horrendous third - added to the debacle.

The Indians have a real Indian sign on the Tigers, who have beaten them in six years. The result left the Green with Cornell as the only undefeated entries in the ten team circuit.

Ties and rainouts will play a major part in determining the outcome of the 1969 race. To date, only the Indians and the Tigers have not been involved in one or more dead-lucks or postponements. There are four of the latter so far, and they will not be resolved unless they have a bearing on the outcome of the race.

A real reality, incidentally, was the ranking of the two service teams at the bottom of the standings. Seven times in the last decade, one of them has finished first.

At Villanova last week, the Tigers upended an opponent to which they had lost, 10-0, a year ago when they overcame an early deficit with a four-run rally in the eighth. A bases-loaded single by catcher Arnie Huthberg on a 2-out, 3-2 pitch scored two to double the game, and left fielder Jim Adams drove in the winning run when he hit safely to bring in Bob Schiffner from second.

Seniors Mike Fremuth picked up his first victory of the year, although he was removed for chronic wilderness after working his innings. Sophomore Jack Whitson retired the last six Villanova batters in a row.

Next day on Clarke Field, junior Bob Wolff duplicated his 1960 victory over the best college baseball team in the east when he blanked St. John's, 2-0. The visitors had string of games, and were involved in a steady stream of April rainouts, and were out of first line pitchers, but the victory was nonetheless a solid achievement. St. John's came into the game with a fine 12-3 record.

Princeton picked up its two runs in the first inning, by the first five men to bat making the rounds. Paul Colburn scored on Arnie Huthberg's single and John Rooney crossed the plate on a wild pitch. Thereafter, the Tigers missed numerous scoring opportunities. Lefty and retired the last 14 batters in a row. He was credited with a three-hitter.

Another Statuist Recorded. The Tigers finally got the kind of pitching they have been expecting from the veteran Mike Fremuth on Monday when he threw a one-hit shut out at Lafayette. The 2-0 triumph raised the Princeton record for the season to a so lid 9-3-1.

For 6 2/3 innings, the senior right hander pitched a no hit ball. The lone safety of the game for the visitors followed, but Fremuth went on to hold the Leopards scoreless, striking out 11. Only five batters reached, first, two on walks, two on errors.

Captain Todd Faulkner, shortstop, scored both the visitors' runs. In the third, he made an infamously hit, was sacrificed to second and came home on a single by John Rooney.

In the seventh, Faulkner was hit by a pitch, sacrificed along again and scored on a hit by center fielder Paul Colburn. Only one of the Tigers' three losses have come again at teams in this NCAA district, and if they continue their present pace, they will be a sure first bet for the post season tournament elimination round.

CAN TIGERS REPEAT?
Carnegie Cup at Stike. Not in a quarter century or more has Princeton won the Carnegie Cup two years' running. Saturday, on occasionally storm-tossed Lake Cayuga, the Tigers will have a chance to do so.

Yale and Cornell were defeated by the Orange and Black last spring for the first time since 1952. Both are perennially strong in rowing, and for 16 years, one or the other managed to win the trophy.

Now the Tigers have a chance to defend it successfully. The Elis victors over Rutgers, Navy and Columbia, and losers to Penn, as is Princeton's, probably the tougher opponent on Saturday. The race will be rowed over the prevailing Olympic distance of 2,000 meters.

Harvard Wins Again. It has been almost as long (1957) since Princeton won the Compton Cup from Harvard and M.I.T., and Saturday saw an other year tucked onto the Crimson's string. The margin on the choppy Charles River was 10 minutes, with the visitors timed in a very good 5:53.3 and the runner-up Princetonians in 6:43.7.

Harvard overcame a short-leaved Princeton lead in the early going, and half-way down the course was in front by a length and a half. The Tigers' difficulty in handling the rough water is cause for concern over their ability to win Saturday at Ithaca. Harvard won the jayvee race by nearly three lengths, and the freshman event by almost four. The Tiger second freshman prevented a clean sweep by the Crimson, winning by just under a length. M.I.T. was last in all four races.

SOLOROVSKY EXCELS
For PHS at Penn Relays. Anchor man Julian Solorovsky ran a 49.5 quarter mile for Princeton High School in the annual Penn-Relays Saturdays to enable the Little Tigers to finish third in that section of 12 teams. Overall, PHS was sixth among 22 schools in two sections, according to coach Larry Ivan.

"Solorovsky ran a spectacular race," he said. His time of 49.5 bettered the school mark for the 440 of 50.1 which Solorovsky set last year, but it wasn't count as a new record, Ivan explained, because it wasn't from a standing start.

When Solorovsky got the baton from Bob Best, there were six ahead of him. He passed three and made up thirty yards, Ivan reported, just missing a second place. "The finish was unbelievable," said Ivan. "He caught the boy running third on the straight, away and it was nip and tuck at the finish. It was that close."

leg. Greg Johnson the second and Best the third for PHS. They time was 3:28.6 — five tenths of a second behind Trenton which won the section. "They all ran very well," remarked Ivan.

He described the Tartan track as "magnificent." It was impossible to estimate the number of schools that participated, he added. They came from all over.

PHS will resume dual meet action Thursday when it will play host to Trenton High School in a 4 p.m. meet. Tuesday it will be at Notre Dame.

New Brunswick Wins. Last week, PHS lost its second dual meet in three starts to home team New Brunswick, 79% to 46%. Weakness in the field events plus the absence of Paul Riddell hurt the Little Tigers. Riddell, a fine hurdler and high jumper, was sidelined from a cut he received last week in a hurdles race against Ewing. "That cost us about nine points right there," said Ivan.

Paul Mazzarella won both the low (20.3) high hurdles (15.4) for PHS, and Solotovsky, Appel and Johnson finished 1-2-3 in the 100. Solotovsky also won the 220.

New Brunswick swept the mile and took first and second in the 440, 880 and two mile. "That hurt," said Ivan.

Other first place finishers for PHS were Larry Roessel in the pole vault (10-6), Tim Taggart in the high jump (5'-4") and Jeff White in the discus (123-2). Lawrence Parker was second in the javelin.

PHS BLANKS SOMERVILLE
In Tennis, 5-0. The Somerville tennis team came to Princeton Friday boasting a 6-0 record and left shaking its head as the Little Tigers won every match from the Rams. It was Princeton's third victory without a defeat.

Ted Fritsch, Mike Jameson and Steve Tobolsky all won singles matches. Tobolsky, a freshman, is undefeated in singles play.

Coach Bill Humes paired Darinus Baer and Robbie Sennschein for the first time in the number one doubles and he reported "they did very well." At one point, the two ran off 20 straight points, he commented, which is the equivalent of five straight games.

In the other doubles two freshmen Michele Gloucevitch and Danny Thompson won.

Three Next week. The team will play three matches next week, starting with a contest Thursday at Bridgewater. On Monday Christian Brothers, the school near Red Bank which historically has given the Little Tigers more trouble than any other school, will be here for a 4 p.m. match.

Wednesday afternoon at 3:45 PHS will play its neighbor Princeton Day School for the first time on a varsity level. "This one should be interesting," observed Humes.

This Wednesday afternoon at 4, PHS was scheduled to entertain Cathedral, which would make it four matches in four weeks. The match with Hun School that was rained out earlier this season has been cancelled. Humes reported that Hun was unable to find an open date to reschedule the match.

PHS DROPS PAIR

Face Hun Sickmea Wednesday. After leading for more than half the game, the Princeton High School lacrosse team suffered a tough 6-4 defeat here Saturday to Montclair at Community Park Field. Earlier, the Little Tigers were overwhelmed by the Maplewood Club, 17-4.

The twin setbacks left the Blue and White with a 1-4 record. Things should get better, however. Coach Marvin Trotman reported that basically the longest part of the PHS schedule is now behind it.

Following an eight-day break, PHS will next oppose Hun School Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 at Hun. This season, the Red and Black seems to be weaker than in past years. . . "but you never can tell," said Trotman. "They're just likely to come up with their best game against us."

Against a good-sized crowd Saturday, PHS scored the only goal in the first half and scored again at the start of the second to take a 2-0 lead. Then in a period of about a minute and a half, Montclair rebounded with three quick ones and went on to win by two.

"Except for that brief span,

TOBOLSKY AND TOBOLSKY: For the first time in the seven years Bill Humes has been the coach, Princeton High School has two brothers playing on the varsity tennis team. we clearly outplayed them," said Trotman. He added: "It was probably our best game all year."

For PHS, Scott Purvis scored two goals and Bob Cooper and Gene Holland added one each. Trotman praised the performance of junior Paul Hoffman in the goal. "He made a lot of saves. Montclair took a lot of shots in the first half," he said.

"Outclassed." "We were just outclassed. They played a tremendous game," was Trotman's comment on the Maple-woods, Maplewood, which draws its players from three high schools, yielded a quick goal to the visiting Blue and White off the opening kickoff, "but then it was downhill all the way," said Trostman.

Trostman cited the speed and the balance of the home team plus the outstanding performance of its goalie. "He was unreal," he said.

The only little T to solve him was Mike McCrohan who scored three goals. This and four he scored in a previous contest equaled his previous output for the entire season last year when he was high scorer. Purvis had the other goal.

Although he didn't score, Mike Tomlinson played a fine game because he told Trostman. He reported the opposing coach was equally high on Tomlinson's play. Tomlinson quipped him as saying he was going to vote for Tomlinson for all-state. Tomlinson missed Saturday's game because he was visiting the Naval Academy at Annapolis which he hopes to enter. But Matthews also was at Princeton looking at schools, and the loss of the two midfielders may have been the difference.

HUN NINE SPLITS

Plays PHS Friday. Spilling two games last week, the Hun School basketball team has a 2-2 mark now in the Penn-Per League and 2-3 overall. Prospects for future success brightened somewhat with the solid pitching performance Mike Maguire Friday at Pennington, a game which Hun won 4-3. Maguire, an outfielder, made his first start of the season, and indicated he can bolster coach Dave Lee's pitching staff. Rich Ziegler and Rob Ruby.

"The team is coming along. Now if we can only eliminate some of those errors," remarked Lee. Hitting has not been a problem so far. All the plate, Hun has been paced by first baseman Mike Rossi who is hitting at a .49 clip.

Next week, Hun will play its second of three non-league games, when it entertains Princeton High School Friday on its diamond at 3:45. Tuesday, Hun will return to league play when it travels to Philadelphia to play Bryn Athyn for the second time this season.

Steinberg Gleams. Against Huntington, captain Howie Steinberg doubled, singled and scored the winning run in the sixth inning to pace the visiting Red and Black. Rossi stroked two singles as the 24-year-old for four of Hun's six hits.

Touched for one run in the first, Maguire pitched well thereafter. Blanklog Pennington hit no one out and retired the next three batters. He pitched the last inning to preserve the win.

Earlier in the week against visiting Perkiomen — which is the current league leader — Hun dropped a 6-3 decision. A nightmare fourth inning was Hun's undoing.

In the fourth, Perkiemen scored all its runs on three passed balls. Until then, Hun had pitched perfect ball, striking out seven.

Rossi and Al Chiofalo each had two hits for Hun, which outdied Perkiemen, 8-5. Rossi batted in two of Hun's three runs.

LACROSSE CLUB WINS

8-2 Over Philadelphia. Neither had nor lack of manpower, nor a subpar attack could keep the New Jersey Lacrosse Club from struggling to a 8-2 victory Sunday over the Philadelphia Lacrosse Club at Haverford, Pa.

At game time, the club had a total of three defencemen; only 24 of 36 members were balled up. Two more defences were shown up. However, New Jersey went on to win it, the second half when it outscored the host club (0-4), 6 to 3.

George Grinstein (three goals) and Phil Allen (two goals, one assist) led the New Jersey Club which evened its record at 2-2. Scoring single goals were Tom Menahan, John Howes and Don Freeman. This Saturday in a non-league game, the Princeton hosed club will play the West Point Fleabes at West Point.

TYLUS CHOSEN MVP

At Awards Breakfast. Kevin Tylus, one of the most prolific scorers in the history of the league, was chosen the most valuable player of the southern division of the Mercer County Catholic Youth Organization basketball league at an awards breakfast last Sunday. In addition, four St. Paul's teams received trophies for their finishes in league play.

St. Paul's varsity boys' team finished first in the regular season, won the playoff crown of the southern division, and then went on to win the Mercer County championship for the third time in four years. They will retire the Bishop George W. Ahl trophy in recognition of this feat, and all players received individual trophies also.

Tylus paced his team to a 23-5 overall record, and led the league in scoring. He completed his career with a point total of 1,194.

Other St. Paul's teams also fared well. The girls' grammar team placed second in the regular season and took third place in the playoffs. The girls' high school team also finished second and won its playoff title.

PDS BEATEN 12-0

In Lacrosse. A big Peddie School lacrosse team had little trouble rolling over Princeton Day's outmanned forces last Wednesday, walking off with a 12-0 verdict. Peddie led 9-0 at the half.

Wednesday afternoon the Panthers were scheduled to play Rutgers Prep Friday at 3:30. A return match at home will pit them against George School. PDS lost 6-3 in its opening contest to George last month. The squad's record, not including the Rutgers Prep game, is 8-3.

ELEVEN WIN MEDALS

In AAU "Short Course." Eleven members of the Princeton YMCA Flying Fish won medals in the finals of a New Jersey AAU Junior Olympic Short Course Swimming Championship, the first of its kind held in Princeton, at the University of Maryland.

David Mancini was the only Princeton swimmer to win a medal. He won the 11/12 boys' 100 yard butterfly in 1:04.0. Andy Rolster won a silver medal in the same age group in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:16.6).

Those who came home with bronze medals were Chuck Reiter, 13/14 boys' 100-yard breaststroke; Margaret Jilison, 11/12 girls' 100-yard breaststroke; Margaret Martin, 13/14 girls' 100-yard breaststroke; and Michael Martin, boys' 15/17 200-yard breaststroke.

Carrie Bolster and Joan Herzig were fourth place medalists. Tom McKenna and Carol Wagner, fifth place; and Maura Dorgan, sixth place. Only the fifth fastest qualifiers in each race participated in the finals.

MORRISTOWN PREP NEXT
For PDS Baseball Team. After a scheduled game Wednesday afternoon against St. Bernards, the Princeton Day School baseball team will meet Morristown Prep at 3:30 Friday at home.

In the Panthers' last outing they were drubbed 15-4 by a good Rutgers Prep nine. The game was scoreless for two innings, with pitcher Craig Page breezing along, striking out five of the first six men he faced. In the bottom of the third, however, the roof fell in, at Rutgers Prep scored seven times, enough to win the ball game right there. The big blow in the inning was a three-run homer.

PDS bounced back with four in the top of the fourth, when it produced all of its five hits. Terry Booth drove in two with a double, Tom Spain, singled in one, and Crichton Adams, another Rutgers Prep responded with four of its own in its half of the fourth to wrap it up, and added four more in the sixth.

Page lost some of his control this time around, walking eight batters, but he also struck out 10 along the way. The loss dropped PDS's record to 1-11.

PDS AWARDS LETTERS

For Warren Sports, Daniel Barker, Director of Boys' Physical Education at Princeton Day School, presented letters for winter sports at an Upper School assembly last week.

Varsity wrestling awards went to co-captains, Ashby Adams and Robert Wilby. Crichton Adams, Keith Bash, Michael Cagan, Jeremy Dunne, Giovanni Ferrante, John Kalpin, Jerome King, Robert Salop, and Timothy Smith.

In varsity hockey letters were awarded co-captains William Chilverus and Robert O'Connor. Other winners were to Physical Fitness Test. Competing against 47 other schools, Princeton High School finished eighth with 1,746 points in the annual Marine Corps Physical Fitness Test held last week near Camden.

IN GOOD PHYSICAL SHAPE AND THEN SOME: These Princeton High students finished right out of 47 teams participating last week in the annual Marine Corps Physical Fitness Test held at Haddon Township High School. From left are Nick Locasio, Gary Pellack, Chris Mislow, coach Larry Ivan, and Gary Lubas. Among other things Mislow, the only junior — the others are all seniors — did 83 closely supervised situps 51 pushups. Story this page.
The host school, Haddon Township High School, placed first with 2,142 points.
Comprising the PHS squad were Gary Pellack who amassed 348 points; Jose Colon (373), Nick Locasio (284), Gary Lubas (366) and Chris Mislow (383). They competed in five events: pullups, situps, squat thrusts, pushups and shuttle run.
All the events were closely supervised. In the squat thrust, for example, a line was painted on the competitor's thigh and a second on the calf. Unless the two lines met, the squat thrust was not counted.
The maximum for each event was 18 pull ups, 85 sit ups, 41 squat thrusts, 60 push ups. Mislow reached 85 situps and Colon and Lubas each hit the maximum 60 pushups.
Ivan complimented the performance of his squad, which only had about two weeks to prepare. "They all did a nice job," he said. Each man trained on his own.
Earlier this year, Lubas placed fifth in a Mr. New Jersey High School physique contest held at the Newark YMCA. In his height class, he placed second.
BOWLING NOTES
No. 1 Wins Second Half.
Baseball may be a game of inches but bowling can cut it finer than that.
Last week in head to head competition with No. 3 for the championship of the second half in the Tri-County Firemen's League, No. 1 needed to win one of three games from No. 3. As it turned out, it won that one game — by the margin of a single pin.
K. F. D. which had an outside chance to tie it if it won all its games from Rocky Hill failed to make a sweep and finished in third place with 58 points, two behind No. 3 which had 60 to No. 1's 52. Rocky Hill and Lawrenceville tied for fourth with 54 all.
Next week to decide the final standings, No. 1 meets while No. 1½ and No. 3 will battle for third and fourth.
High man for No. 1 last week was Jack Petrone with 201. Richardson of Lawrenceville fashioned the high single game — 210 — and the high series — 615. Teammate Mike Duvin had a 220. Bip Davison and Earl Smith each rolled 214.
Between 211 and 203 were Phil Rodelfield, Frank Stafko, Vince Sassman, Wally Brown and Norman Luck.
Princeton Aviation's Jim Wheeler's 228 was the high single game in the Nassau League, followed by George Pierce's 216. George rolls for Sneekders, John Rockfellow and Jerry Perpetua had 214.
Others: Mike DeStefano, 213; Jim Shely, 209; Nick Sculerati, 203; Santo Tocco, 204; Nick Sculerati, 202; and John Baldino, 202.
In the standings, First Aid remains on top with 60 points. Still within overhauling distance are Princeton Aviation (53), Tiger Garage (53) and Grover Lumber (52).

WINS ARE VITAL NOW
 After three games, the Princeton High School basketball team has to start hitting—and winning—big games to earn a berth in the annual post-season competition.
 The Tiger Tigers, who saw games against Hamilton and Trenton last week ended on a high note, having won games on Thursday and Friday and then entertain St. Anthony here next Wednesday, May 7. Thursday, Cultural Night, will be here for a 4 p.m. contest, while on Friday, PHS will make a short trip to Edgemoor Road for a contest with Dave Leece's Ithaca team. That will get underway at 3:45.

Against Edgemoor, PHS collected only four hits off the pitcher, Edward, three of them in the last inning when it failed to score. The final score, 3 PHS, 10 Edgemoor. In three starts, PHS has had to hang out a dozen hits.
 Ewing scored all the runs in the first game, a walk, two stolen bases and George Ganges' single. It picked up another run in the second and a third in the seventh. The latter, also unearned, came at the result of two throwing errors by Edgemoor. Tom Graham—the first this season by a Little Tiger infielder.

Haring Walks Six. Jeff Haring, seeking his second win, pitched a little better than in his first start, but he walked six. "That's his horse," commented coach Harry Zoll.

The diminutive Smallwood kept the home team at bay with a collection of jump pitches and a big assist from a strong wind that held up slow drives for easy outs.

In the fourth, Captain Dave Drake led Princeton's first hit, Louie Rossi belted one toward center field on the second day. Zoll commented, "would be gone." Instead, the wind hung it up for an easy out. Hal Logan was an unusual victim.

In the bottom of the last in the PHS, Smallwood Drake led off with an infield hit which the shortstop could not handle. Graham followed with a smash past the third baseman, Ganges.
 Then came what Zoll called the turning point. After Drake had fled out, Jeff Bannon lofted one over second base. It looked sure to drop in but Rick Slikko, racing at top speed, caught the ball at his own top. It was the defensive play of the game and out number two for PHS.

Still, the Little Tigers were not finished. Second baseman John Pesce blooped one over third, instead of playing it safe. Pesce elected to try the score. He was out at the plate as catcher Bill Axella made the tag for PHS. It was three hits and nothing else.
 Jeff Grover pitched the last inning for PHS. The little southpaw, making his first appearance on the mound, looked edictive in the brief time he worked.

Ewing's record jumped to 4-1. Smallwood's to 2-6. Haring's to 1-2.
PHS LOSSES AGAIN
 To Ewing, 19-2. Hoping to avenge a 3-0 defeat by Ewing the day before, the Princeton High School basketball team took it on the chin even more from Ewing on Tuesday, when it lost 10-2.
 Down 2-0, PHS tied it when first baseman Dick Van Zandt doubled home men on second in the third. But in the fifth inning, we got a little tired," commented coach Harry Zoll. "I stopped counting after the Starter Tom Graham was the victim of the Ewing uprising in the fifth, which saw a parade of PHS pitchers follow in his train. Tom, making his first start on the mound, was charged with the loss. At the plate, he was the

The setback was the Little Tigers' third in four starts. Ewing, the current leader in the country, race, has a 5-1 log.

MEMBER-MEMBER BELD
 At Springdale. After a week's postponement because of rain, the annual member tournament was held Saturday at Springdale Golf Club. Shostack, a net 141 to win was a four-shot winner. He was followed by Karl Pettit, Jr., Otto Nelson, Robert J. Bennett and Dan Brady.
 Play was held on a basis of the two best of competing foursomes. Taking second place with a 142 were Jack Sweeney, Edward Johnson, Denn Chace, and Andy Cahill. Also totaling 142 but placing third were Kester, Piersam, Glenn Eshbach, Dick Schach and Don Schewer.

Sixteen members qualified for the President's Cup, with match play scheduled for this weekend. Those successful, with their net scores, were: Bill Haman, 70; Dean Chace, 70; Bob Shullaber and Ed Conlin, 72; Harold Maran and Glen Miller, 73; Paul Erlier and Robert Thompson, 74; Tom Huntington, 75; Nelson Case, Pete Marzoni, Dick Thompson and Robert J. Bennett, 76; Don Copeland, 76; Karl Pettit, Jr., 78; Pettit won on a match of cards over seven other members who shared 78s: Bud Allair, Otto Nelson, Dave Mathey, Asa Farr, Jack Sweeney, Ed Johnson and Robert Lewis.

SEASON OPENS TUESDAY
 For Little Tigers Softball League sixteen teams, including one new entry, and defending champion McGraw-Hill will begin their season Tuesday, May 2, 7:30. The season will be played on the 1969 Princeton Softball League fields.
 The 16 week schedule, stretching into the second week of August will pit each team against every other team in the league. There are two dates set aside for inter-division play. On these nights teams will play each other. The standings will play each other.

Based on past performances the power structure of the two leagues has been left unchanged. In the west RCA Labs A and B, given the best chance to battle it out for the top spot, in a repeat of last year's race, which saw RCA A finish, 13-1 and Astra, 12-2.
 Columbian Carbon, switched from the eastern division for 1969, is given the best chance of beating out the two top contenders. Carbon finished with nine victories against five losses in the playoffs, before losing out.

In the east McGraw-Hill was the favorite, but assuming it has not lost any key personnel, but Accelerator, RCA B and ERC should also be in the thick of things in that order. McGraw-Hill whipped RCA A in two straight last year. The TOWN TOPICS ICS trophy for the first time.
 The new entry is Fumichen, located in Plainsboro. It replaced the West Windsor team, which won a game last year. Tom Ward of RCA Laboratories is the manager. RCA Astro, is vice president.

SEASON BEGUN
 In West Windsor League, A triple header with the First National Bank nipping at Edgemoor Hotel, 4-3. Craft Cleaners defeating Ellsworth A.C., 10-2, and Thorne's Pharmacy vauloping the West Windsor Lions, 16-0, opened the action for the 1969 season of the West Windsor Little League. The series was won by Bruce Wortelman, who hurt

ed a perfect game last year, had to settle for a plain old no-hitter. In his debut last season, Wortelman fanned 18 opposing batters for a league record, but spoiled his bid for a perfect game in the third when he issued a free pass to lead-off batter Jeremy King. Ewing, the current leader in the country, race, has a 5-1 log.

Craft Cleaners overcame the hitting and fielding of rookie Steve Mays, who put one over the bank of the river at first at bat in the John Cosas, as winning pitcher John Cosas, a fellowed only one out in the third. Cosas also showed his hitting ability by smashing two home runs. Arnold, a second year player, for Ewing, won three for three including a double.

The bank, last year's champion, held championship in their staging a come-from-behind victory to lead in the final inning. An error by Edgemoor opened the door to the three-run rally as Dave Duncan singled and Jeff Oleasewich doubled to drive in two runs, tying the score. Duncan, who was hit by a pitch, then stole home for the winning run.
 The Minor League system will play a series of games. It is still accepting registrations from West Windsor and 12 other teams. The series will be held on North Post Road, at 9 a.m. accompanied by a parade of the Little League ball game and 3 registration fee. Any boy who comes will play on one of the teams.

CARNEGIE CLUB ACTIVE
 Sunday on Lake. Races in the different classes composed of the Princeton Sailing Club Sunday and their 26 boats were joined by eight Princeton boats. The races in Dighe, Ample and were available throughout the afternoon.
 George Wilson placed first among the Sunfish, with Jack Romeril second and Hank Munson third. Tom Huntington with Pat McPherson third. The Penguin class competition was won by Larry Rafferty, with John serving as crew. Ed Metcalf was second and John Redd third.

ART TOUR PLANNED
 By Chapin School. The Chapin School has planned a tour of six private art collections in the Princeton area and an art lecture at Lunchthack Wednesday, May 14.
 The comprehensive tour includes the work of Princeton artists Naomi and David Savage, geometric and optic art paintings, as well as abstract expressionist paintings.

Drawings by Rembrandt and Goya, primitive art dating back to 6,000 B. C. and the critical works of George Grosz will also be on the tour.
 A special feature will be a private sale of drawings and paintings by Princeton area artists. The tour will be held at the City artist Julia Tallorico.

LIBRARY PLANS LECTURE
 On Universe Origin. Professor Robert H. Dicke will introduce "The Universe, Did It Originate?" in a series of informal lecture at Princeton Public Library on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Professor Dicke, chairman of the Physics Department at Princeton University, will explain the "big bang" theory of the origin of the universe. The slide-illustrated lecture will be followed by an open discussion period.
 The community is welcome; no tickets are necessary for the lecture. The lecture will be held in the library meeting room, 65 Witherspoon Street, the Princeton area and will be given by Princeton authors.

Dance Program. Ten students from the classes of Lucy D. Hargrove, Princeton D.A. School will present a free program at Princeton Public Library on Wednesday May 7 at 8 p.m. The demonstration will include a variety of dances such as original compositions by the students, a ballroom selection, and a group dance for eight dancers with choreography by Mrs. Gilbert.

POLICEMEN HONORED
 By American Legion. Patrolman Frank J. Costello of the Windsor police force and Patrolman David T. Potts of the Windsor Police Department were cited for "outstanding service" at a meeting of American Legion Post No. 76. The two patrolmen were honored for "Carrying out their duties as police officers in a manner which reflects credit upon all law enforcement officers and for dedication to their profession above and beyond the call of duty."

FASHIONS TO BE SHOWN
 At Shopping Center. The Princeton Shopping Center Merchant's Association will sponsor a fashion show at 2 p.m. Friday, on the deck of the "Vacation" swimming pool at the Mall. The show will feature 40 different summer fashions ranging from conventional one-piece swimsuits to the latest in navy blue psychedelic print bikinis. The ensembles will be designed by a number of designers, the fashion coordinator for Bamberger's New Jersey. Music for the public show will be provided by the Jack Henderson Trio.

"VIEWS OF PHS"
 Topic of Alumni Discussion. "Views of Princeton High School Today" is the subject of a discussion at a meeting of the PHS Alumni Association next Wednesday, May 7. It will be held at the Princeton Shopping Center at 2 p.m. All former high school students are invited to attend. The meeting is also open to the public.

MEMBERS NAMED
 For New School Board. The new members of the new West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional School District's new education were appointed this week.
 The appointment follows last week's referendum in which residents of the two townships voted in favor of joining their respective school systems. The referendum was passed by a ten-thousand-twenty-four margin.

The new board will have seven members from West Windsor, named by Edward A. Calahan, Mercer County Superintendent of Schools, and two from Plainsboro named by Robert R. Blunt, Middlesex County Superintendent. They will serve until the school election on February 2, 1970.
 For West Windsor: Robert C. Dunne, Jr., Richard A. Medsker, Mrs. Margaret Bacon, Deane G. Bornheimer, Emil V. Deane, Jr., and John Myers and Robert Prigge.
 For Plainsboro: Phillip W. Roddelf Jr. and John Vernel. They will have been on the school boards of their respective communities.

HOSTS NEEDED
 For Foreign Students. The Princeton Chapter of the Exchange Program in International Education is seeking families who will host a foreign student for three or four weeks in August.

Anyone interested in participating in the 1969 Homestay Program should contact Mrs. Joan Guimartin at 924-2672 or 432-297, or Mrs. Irving N. Glick at 924-2672.
 The Princeton Area steering committee members are: Richard A. Medsker, Mrs. Harold Logan, Mrs. Barbara Baumeister, Mrs. Paul Finkelstein and Mrs. Newell Woodworth.

REGISTER MAY 5-8
 For Kindergarten Program. The Princeton Public Library will hold its pre-school registration for children entering kindergarten next year from 9 a.m.-12 noon, Wednesday, May 5-8. Any child who will be five-years-old on or before November 1, 1969 is eligible. Parents should register their children at the following elementary school offices: Johnson Park, Madison, John H. Thompson, 8-8; Littlebrook, May 6-7; and Riverside, May 8-9.

Parents must bring their child's birth certificate, passport, record of certain vaccinations and health records showing immunization for polio, diphtheria and small pox.
 Children will be assigned to a kindergarten class according to the area where they live. If classes exceed 25, children registered late will be assigned to another school, as close to their neighborhood as possible.

Special trial arrangements are being made to evaluate the eligibility for admission to kindergarten of certain children who will be five by January 31, 1969. Special applications for these children will be obtained during the kindergarten registration period. However, parents are not encouraged to request special consideration unless they have firm reason to believe that their child is significantly better than average in physical development, coordination, social maturity, independence and other areas.

They should discuss the advisability of under-age admissions with qualified persons by the Princeton Public School teacher and pediatrician.

SPACES OPEN

Green Light for Elm

Traffic signals will be in and working sometime this June at Elm and Cleveland, according to promises made by state and county to Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney.

The intersection is the point where Cleveland Lane enters Elm Road and then continues on as Rosedale
It is a heavy traffic area in the early mornings as cars travel north on the Elm Great Road route to Princeton Day School and Stuart Country Day, and west on Cleveland and Rosedale to Educational Testing Service and Western Electric.

The project is a county
one, but required the approval of state highway officials before the light could actually be installed.

News Of The CHURCHES

MISCELLANEY NEEDED

By First Baptist Nursery. In a reversal of the usual procedure in Princeton, the all black First Baptist Church at John Street and Avalon Place, in a cooperative, all day nursery school last September and welcomed the white children.

The church, under the leadership of the Rev. Edward Smith, has housed the Federal OEO nursery for several years, and the new Day Care Center augments its community service.

Taking stock this spring, Mrs. Felicia Litom, chairman of the Day Care Center, reports that an average of 20 children of working mothers are cared for Mondays through Friday between the hours of 7:45 a.m. until 5 p.m. The number varies as many are "drop ins," she says. The head teacher is Mrs. Mary Tighman.

The youngsters range in age from infants to almost ready for kindergarten. They enjoy a healthful daily regimen of supervised play, naps, hot lunches, story times and early training in the art of getting along with one another.

Mrs. Litom and the nursery committee have approached the Joint Recreation Commission for permission to add the wading pool at Community Park to the summer program, as the school is on a year-round basis. "We are also doing a survey of the community to get an idea of about how many children we'll have to care for in the summer," she adds.

The planning for the First Baptist Day Care Center has been based on the available facilities at the church—two basement rooms and kitchen in the new wing, with a patch of play yard. As the number of children has grown, the teachers and committee have decided to devote the smaller room to the infant and play pen ages, as their sleep and play patterns are disoriented by the older children.

To equip the infants' room and to augment the facilities in the larger play room, the nursery will highly appreciate the assistance from the community. Mrs. Litom and Mrs.

THE NUMBER KEEPS GROWING. First Baptist Church's day care nursery for children of working mothers is finding that its ever-increasing service to the community means a shortage of equipment.

Tighman have made up the following list:

- High chairs (2); cribs (2); crib sheets and small blankets, play pen, baby strollers (2); baby walker; medical toys that babies enjoy; small nursery chair (for age 1 to 3); and clothing (one 1 to 3) and baby gates (4).

Also, toy trucks, wagons, blocks, tractors, a gym set, baby dolls, doll carriages, play house furniture, games, books, large balls, art and craft materials; play dishes, play clothing, play wigs; educational toys, musical instruments; a cowboy outfit, stuffed animals and large building blocks.

The nursery also will welcome a movie projector outfit, children's phonograph records, a small freezer . . . and volunteers. Financial support is needed to maintain the low day-care fee that the working mother can pay. Inquiries are directed to Mrs. Litom, 32 Birch Avenue (D21-2649 in the evenings). Donations may be left at the Day Care Center, on weekdays.

TWO LECTURES THIS WEEK

At Princeton Jewish Center. A Black Jew" from Ethiopia and a Jewish historian will give open lectures at the Jewish Center, under the sponsorship of the religious and adult education committee.

This Friday, Rabbi Hailu Masha Pariz, of the Ethiopian Jewish Community of the Bronx, will speak at 8:15 p.m. on the subject of "Are We Not All Brothers?" The program is part of the regular Friday evening service.

Rabbi Pariz, a native of Ethiopia, is a Falasha, or "Black Jew," as they are commonly known. He came to the United States in 1936 during the Italian invasion of his country.

A graduate of City University and Yeshiva University, he hopes to continue his graduate studies. Rabbi Pariz recently returned to Ethiopia for ten months, making contacts with the Falasha community in Addis Abba. He is a member of the education unit of HAREVU—Harlem Youth Unlimited and is associated with the Commission for Synagogue Relations of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies.

On Monday, Rabbi Martin A. Cohen returns to the center to discuss, "Jewish History and the Chosen People: A Saga of a Peculiar People." His lecture will conclude the current adult education series.

Rabbi Cohen, who will speak at 8:30 p.m. is professor of history and Bible at the Hebrew Union College - Jewish Institute of Religion. A discussion period follows.

CHURCH WOMEN SPONSOR

May Fellowship Luncheon. "Beginning Anew" is the title of the May Fellowship Day Luncheon of the Church Women United, to be held at 12:30 this Friday at the YWCA.

The theme refers to the needs of the physically and emotionally handicapped. The speakers are Dr. Alfred B. Vuocolo, superintendent of the New Jersey Training School for Boys, Skillman, and Miss Judith Morgan, director of volunteer services at the New Jersey State Home for Girls, Trenton.

Mrs. Harry Hill will report on the Camp Fund, a special concern of the meeting, which the Church Women United maintains for the purpose of sending underprivileged children from the Princeton community to summer camp. The greater part of the offering will be dedicated to the fund.

Mrs. Orion Hopper, president and Mrs. Howard B. Waxwood are co-chairmen. Mrs. Waxwood will preside, and participants include Mrs. Harold Thomas, wife of the pastor of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Prince Taylor, wife of the Methodist bishop of the New Jersey area. A nursery will be provided for small children. Table hostesses are Mrs. James Whitmore, Mrs. Marion Stokes, Mrs. E. Hugh Litton, Mrs. Kenneth L. Dannenbauer, Mrs. Donald W. Meisel, Mrs. James Mechem, Mrs. Edward Smith, Mrs. Orley Swartzentruber, Mrs. Joseph O. Rand, Mrs. Harry Hill, Mrs. William L. Tucker, Mrs. Leonard Newton, Mrs. John Cullen, Mrs. Charles Bushnell, Mrs. William Cosby, Mrs. Abb Scarborough, Mrs. Estelle Johnson, Mrs. William White and Mrs. John L. Johnson.

Church representatives at the luncheon planning include Mrs. Kenneth

NURSERY SCHOOL SET

In Hopewell. Calvary Baptist Church of Hopewell will launch in September a non-profit nursery school for community children.

The school, which begins operation September 9, will be held on Tuesdays through Thursdays from 9 to 11:30 a.m. for nine months of the year. Mrs. Mary Carter, who directed her own school for 19 years, is head teacher, assisted by Mrs. Douglas Gault, a graduate of Trenton State College who taught for several years in the Lebanon Borough School.

Recently granted approval by the State of New Jersey, the school has openings for children who will be four years old by December 31.

The school is the result of a search by the women of the church for a project that meets community needs. The school's board has an approximate budget of $3,800 for the first year, based upon an income of $20 monthly for each of 20 children and $10 registration fees per child. With the exception of a $100 reserve fund, the fees are earmarked towards salaries, equipment, food and maintenance of the school.

IT'S RUMMAGE TIME

Obituaries

Philip W. Yeatman, 76, of 72 Library Place, died April 24 in Princeton Hospital. Born in Norfolk, Va., he had lived in Princeton since 1908.

A 1914 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, he had served with American forces aiding the British fleet during World War I. Following retirement from the Navy in 1936, he returned to active duty during World War II. He reached the rank of lieutenant commander.

Surviving are his wife, Elizabeth Duffield Yeatman; a daughter, Mrs. Charles W. Grier; a brother, Charles E. Yeatman of Monmouth Beach; and three grandchildren.

A military service was followed by a funeral in Trinity Episcopal Church, with burial in Princeton Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be sent to Princeton Hospital.

Dr. Correll Jaynes, 73, died suddenly on April 25 at her home on Mt. Lucas Road. A Princeton resident for some 50 years, Dr. Jaynes was a graduate of Cornell University College of Medicine. She was a biological scientist at the Rockefeller Institute, on what is now the James Forrestal Campus of Princeton University.

In recent years, Dr. Jaynes practiced veterinary medicine at her clinic on Mt. Lucas Road. Her dedicated interest was the care and protection of small animals and she was largely responsible for the foundation of the Small Animal Veterinary Endowment. Her great contribution to the community was to make the spaying of cats and dogs available to owners who could not afford the ever-increasing cost of the operation.

There are no survivors. In accordance with Dr. Jaynes' wishes, no funeral was held. Memorial gifts may be made to the Small Animal Veterinary Endowment (SAVE), 654 Mt. Lucas Road.

Henry L. Schaefer, 64, former chief of the Princeton Junction Fire Department, died April 25 in Bradenton, Fla. He operated a service station in Princeton Junction for 35 years before moving to Florida last year.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Schaefer; two sons, Henry L. Jr. and Donald D., of Princeton Junction; two grandchildren; a brother, Carl C. Schaefer of Princeton; and a sister, Mrs. Emma E. Wolf of Bradenton.

The service was held in the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. James S. Weaver of Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Dutch Neck Cemetery. Memorial gifts may be sent to the Reformed Children's Association of Mercer County or to the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Mary L. Booth, 60, of 27 MacLean Street, died April 25 at her home. For the past 18 years, she had been an employee of the Campus Club.

A brother, Oscar Duckworth of New York, is her nearest survivor. The funeral was held at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, the Rev. Marjorie F. Stokes of officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Carl W. Barget, sister of Mrs. Norwell B. Samuels of Pardo Road, died April 28 at her home in Heath Village, Hackensack.

A niece, Mrs. Wade C. Stephens of Lawrenceville, also survives her. The service was held in the Niles Chapel of First Presbyterian Church, Interment was in Glendale Cemetery.

SUBLIME IN THOUGHT — ARTISTIC IN CONSTRUCTION. We think this house is "poetry in motion" as it addresses your imagination and your fancy. On 2 of the most extensively landscaped (but, we must underline, maintenance-free) acres in Princeton Township it is most affluent in space for the largest family. Vast Living-Dining-Lounge Area with double fireplace (other side will warm the kitchen), Study, Playroom, 6 Bedrooms and 3 charming patios. The most magnificent brickwork, inside and out, together with lots of glass, makes this contemporary one of the most unusual homes we have seen. $38,500

SUPPLE DELICACY tells all about this classic Colonial set in the wild beauty of Hopewell Township. A rustic interior is achieved by 3 fireplaces, one each in the Living room, Den and Master Bedroom. 3 more double Bedrooms! 2 1/2 Baths and a modern Quaker Maid Kitchen are just some of the exceptionally well-designed features put together by Architect William M. Thompson. $72,500

KEEP COOL underneath large, shady trees. This 2-story, newly painted Colonial in West Windsor Township features, on the 1st floor, Living room, Dining room, paneled Den, modern Kitchen and 1/2 Bath; second floor has 4 Bedrooms and modern Bath. With a full Basement; Attic, 2-car Garage, screened-in Porch, and several outbuildings on 2 acres, this is certainly a buy at $38,500

AN ENCHANTING COTTAGE

Nestled on over an acre of primeval woods and well back from the road in a supreme western location, this engaging stone house will sweep you off your feet if you have been searching for the unusual. Its quaint Colonial exterior belies the amount of space to be found inside. At the hub of the house, there is a vast stone-walled room with fireplace and rough hewn ceiling beams, which serves both for living and dining. Opening to one side, a delightful brick-floored study with second fireplace would be so inviting on a winter's evening. A crisp, modern kitchen has recently been installed, and there is a spacious playroom on the ground floor as well. Upstairs, there are three children's bedrooms and bath as well as a happily secluded master suite with its own bath. Outside, a lovely two-level flagstone terrace overlooks a meandering brook and a profusion of wild flowers in the woods beyond. Truly one of a kind and offered here for the first time. Priced in the high sixties.

HOUGHTON REAL ESTATE

Nelson Ridge — The wooded lots are getting scarce, and this is a beautiful one. Imagine your dream house surrounded by dogwoods on an ideal acre and a half. $17,000

Small — and adorable is a good description of this 3 bedroom, 1 bath Ranch. It contains a very nice living-dining room combination with a fireplace. In the basement there is a playroom for the youngsters. The house is situated in the country on a 1 1/3 acre well landscaped lot. $39,900

Are you looking for a 3 bedroom Colonial on one floor with all the custom features you'd like in a house if you were building your own? The kitchen has a self-cleaning oven and a dishwasher and opens into the paneled family room with fireplace. The two bedrooms are ceramic tiled, the living room-dining room is carpeted and so is the hall. This house has been cherished by its owners and is on a delightful acre in Montgomery Township. $39,900

We are offering a most gracious and expansive 4 bedroom reproduction Colonial in nearby Montgomery Township. Panelled library on the first floor, in addition to large living room, formal dining room and bright cheery kitchen. On the lower level is a spacious family room and a secluded study. Truly a house to be seen and enjoyed. Immediate occupancy. $47,000

2 CAMPBELTON CIRCLE

— a distinguished address in the Borough west side — and a jewel of a house. Converted some years ago from the gardener's cottage on the Armour estate, and handsomely added to with a contemporary air more recently, this white brick tudor home is the right house in the right section for the family desiring charm and privacy and location.

Secluded living room with fireplace and bow window looking out over walled grounds, paneled family room with its own entrance and a second fireplace — with, also, its own flagstone terrace, formal dining room, sunny kitchen, main floor powder room. Upstairs, four bedrooms, two baths, and a huge walk-up attic under the steep pitched roof. Garage and carport.

Here is a house to fall in love with — and a listing we proudly offer at $95,000

A PERFECT RETIREMENT HOUSE for a couple who loves gardening. Admirably constructed Cape Cod house in an attractive Princeton Township setting. Built in the early 1950's, it contains, all on one floor, living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and tile bath, as well as a beautiful breezeway for summer living. On the second floor, for visiting firemen, there are two nice bedrooms and another bath. (One of which is paneled in pine and would make a marvelous studio or hobby room.) There is a full basement, with second fireplace, as well as a two-car garage. On an acre and a half, with many trees. $54,500

PRIME BUILDING LOT IN NORTHWESTERN PRINCETON — Nearly two acres of wooded hillside would be the perfect location for a spectacular, modern house. On a long-established, quiet country road, with city utilities. Full architectural and engineering surveys are included in the price of $22,500

THIS COULD BE THE START OF SOMETHING GRAND — This pristine little house on its 1¼ wooded acres could be made the nucleus of a much larger establishment; certainly its enviable Western Township location would warrant such a project. At present the house consists of living room, separate dining room, modern kitchen, two bedrooms, and one bath on the first floor. Upstairs, there is one finished room and plenty of space for another and a second bath. Everything in the way of plumbing, heating, and wiring is in first rate condition. Situated within easy walking distance of both the Princeton Day Schools and the Stuart Country Day School. Asking $39,500

WOW! WHAT A LOT OF HOUSE! This handsome six-year-old of white-washed brick has as much to offer in the way of living space as many an apparently larger house. From the exterior, it appears to be a sprawling one-story, but inside you will find a two-story plan of great versatility. From the brick-floored entrance hall with its gracefully curving stairway, you will enter a large living room with free-standing marble fireplace on the one side and spacious bay-windowed study on the other. Off the living room, there are both a separate dining room and a glass-walled sun room with woodsy outlook. The thoughtfully equipped kitchen is nearly new, and has an adjoining breakfast area with sliding glass doors to the lawn. At the back of the house, there is a bedroom and full bath, plus a lavatory; while in the bedroom wing, there are three more bedrooms and two full baths on the ground floor. Upstairs, you will find two more bedrooms, another full bath, and more storage space than you can possibly fill up. There is a substantial basement and two-car garage. The house is centrally air-conditioned and occupies a very choice 1½ acre lot in a quiet location just west of Princeton. $87,500
